

SOCIALISTS URGE SPECIAL SESSION

GROUP PONDER'S RELIEF NEEDS FOR WISCONSIN

Unemployment Insurance Is Among Chief Proposals Before Committee

EARLY DECISION DUE

Burdens of Unemployment Should Be Thrown on Industry, Body Told

Madison —(P)— If the legislative interim committee on unemployment needs the advance of Wisconsin's university economists and labor leaders during its executive sessions today it will recommend that this state become a pioneer in unemployment insurance to help prevent and compensate idleness in future industrial depressions.

It may also propose some form of immediate authority for a mandatory reduction of working hours in various classes of industry to assist in providing somewhat permanent jobs for many who are now unemployed.

While both of these proposals carry the avowed opposition of industry, the sentiment of the economists and labor executives who spoke before the committee, during the hearings held the last two days, was favorable to the enactment of that kind of legislation.

The committee went into executive session this morning to summarize all the arguments that have been presented to it and either later today or in the near future it expects to announce the tentative program of bills to be submitted at the special session of the legislature this fall.

The tentative program will be subject to revision after a series of public hearings in which industrialists will put up a bitter fight of compulsory unemployment insurance and shortening of working hours is proposed.

Put Burden on Industry

The final speakers on yesterday's program told the committee that the burden of caring for persons thrown out of work through no fault of their own should be borne by industry. They were: Dr. William Leiserson, Antioch college, Yellow Springs, Ohio; John B. Andrews, New York, secretary of the American Association for Labor Legislation and Prof. Paul Rauschenbach, economics professor of the University of Wisconsin.

"If anybody should lose, the profit-taker should lose during a period of depression," Leiserson said, "that's the essence of the competitive system."

His explanation for this viewpoint was that the employer, setting himself up in business borrows money on which he guarantees interest and borrows labor on which he guarantees wages, offering to assume the full risk and taking for himself any profits that accrue.

He said that unemployment insurance is easily comparable to insurance against fire and a plan that employers should not forsake any more than they should refuse to contribute their fire insurance because their neighbor had fires and collected while they had no fires and collected nothing.

Distribution of Cost

The principle of unemployment insurance, he contended, is the distribution of the cost of depression which he regarded as being the responsibility of industry and not of society.

Another important measure, Mr. Leiserson said is the shortening of the labor hours of men and women alike.

He outlined the results of a survey by Antioch college, which has a cooperative plan with employers to give its students work, in which he said ample evidence was given that both union and non-union workers purposely restrict their output to stretch their employment.

"I don't think the cost of unemployment insurance would amount to half the cost of the present restriction of output," he said.

Indictments Seen In Collings Murder

NINE ARRESTED IN DETROIT'S TRIPLE MURDER

Refusal to Head Gangdom's Edicts Caused Slayings, Officials Think

Detroit —(P)— Nine men were held for questioning today as police sought four underworld executioners whose pistols yesterday ended the rebellion of three liquor racketeers against gangdom's regulations.

One of the men held is Sol Levine, who started out to drive the three victims from their handbook agency to an "amicable conference" for settlement of underworld differences over liquor selling rights—a conference which ended in a typical gangland assassination.

Levine told his inquisitors numerous conflicting stories during hours of questioning last night. The one police were inclined to believe was that, at the busy intersection of Grand-blvd and Third-st, three or four men boarded the car, flashed guns, told him to get out, and drove away.

The scene next, shifted to the apartment house at 1740 Collingwood-ave, in the heart of a quiet residential district, where 15 pistol shots were heard, and four men raced down a rear stairway to an automobile waiting in the alley.

They left behind them the bullet-riddled bodies of Joseph Lebold, alias Lebovitz, 31; Isaac Sutker, alias Sutton, 28, and Herman Paul, 34, all allied with the once notorious Purple gang, who, police say, conducted a flourishing wholesale liquor business without regard for district boundaries established by powerful underworld interests. It was this defiance of gangland's regulations that brought death to them, police believe.

Hide Guns in Paint

The killers introduced a new departure in mass murder by secreting their pistols in a can of paint, left under the sink in the apartment. It was hours later when the weapons were found, tell-tale fingerprints obliterated by the paint.

Witnesses who saw the killers in flight described them as between 25 and 30 years of age, well dressed and of swarthy complexions. An older man was waiting at the wheel of the car, which roared away down the alley, they said.

The apartment, at the rear of the building, and on the second floor was rented Sept. 1 by a "James Regis." It had not been occupied. Although the caretaker, Frank Holt, tentatively identified one of the dead men as "Regis" shortly after the shootings, police inclined today to the belief that the apartment was rented for the purpose of the slayings and that "Regis" was one of the killers.

Lebold, Sutker and Paul, police said they were informed, engaged in liquor running on the Detroit river until Canadian export restrictions made smuggling unprofitable. Then they discussed Mexico's liquor laws. All had police records here, while Sutker also had been arrested for robbery and burglary in Chicago.

Queen Is Ill

Bucharest, Rumania.—(P)—Dowager Queen Marie, who has been seriously ill since the marriage of Princess Ileana, is reported to be gaining strength but may have to submit to radium treatments of an operation. Her physicians have held consultations as to which is the better course.

Gandhi Asks For Action At Conclave

Protests Against Representation on Federal Structures Group

London —(P)— Mahatma Gandhi protested against the representation upon the Federal Structures committee of the Indiana round table conference at its session today, declaring the members of the committee were not representatives of the Indian nation but of the government.

Mahatma told the committee that its proceedings seemed to him to be interminable and to be leading nowhere.

Since Gandhi's speech Tuesday, the committee has been discussing a mass of detail under the agenda head "direct and indirect methods of election."

The Nationalist leader declared that a feeling of oppression had been growing up on him ever since Monday and that it finally grew so great that he was compelled to protest against the manner in which the committee was going about its work.

He compared the proceedings of the committee to "a debating society" in which each member gave an eloquent discourse upon the several points severally raised, but said he did not see how any conclusions were ever to be reached.

He pleaded that the committee—in its deliberations make provisions for India-wide adult suffrage without qualification of wealth, class or literacy.

"While I want my people to have a knowledge of the three R's I should have to wait until the Greek kalends for that to come to pass and I am not prepared to wait that long for their vote," he said.

RUBIO HOPES U. S. WILL JOIN LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Mexico City.—(P)— Hope that the United States would enter the league of nations and align itself with Mexico and other countries in efforts for "betterment of the world" was expressed today by President Pascual Ortiz Rubio.

In a signed article in El Nacional, organ of the official National Revolutionary party, the president said the cooperation of the United States is necessary to obtain a "universal economic equilibrium."

Discussing Mexico's reasons for joining the league, he ignored mention of the Monroe doctrine and said Mexico had not joined to squabble over dominations, bring up unimportant quarrels, foment divisions or make an exhibit of itself.

"We are going to Geneva to place our effort, great or small, but always serious at the service of a betterment of the world," he said.

BROTHERS' LAWYERS MOVE FOR NEW TRIAL

Springfield, Ill.—(P)— A petition was on file today with the state supreme court asking that the jury's verdict convicting Leo V. Brothers for the slaying of Alfred J. Lingie, a reporter, in June of 1930, be reversed, or a new trial granted.

Discussed Mexico's reasons for joining the league, he ignored mention of the Monroe doctrine and said Mexico had not joined to squabble over dominations, bring up unimportant quarrels, foment divisions or make an exhibit of itself.

"We are going to Geneva to place our effort, great or small, but always serious at the service of a betterment of the world," he said.

RADIO OPERATOR DIES

Panama.—(P)— Roy J. Miller, radio operator of the navy airplane that crashed and burned yesterday near David with the death of three of its crew, succumbed to his burns last night.

PROSECUTOR IS CONFIDENT OF COURT ACTION

Silent About Information Gathered in Long Island Mystery

Huntington Station, N. Y.—(P)— District Attorney Alexander Blue announced today that he had information which he believed would result in the indictment of the person or persons who killed Benjamin Collings of Stamford.

"I have a definite picture in my mind of what happened on the Collings cruiser 'Penguin,'" he said, "which I believe will develop during the inquest sufficient evidence to warrant indictments against the guilty person or persons."

Blue said that to put into words at this stage of the investigation what he knows would reveal the identity of the characters in the tragic drama, and this he was not prepared to do.

The inquest opens tomorrow morning and Blue said it would probably last several days. The only witness so far announced, aside from officials who will tell of finding and examining Collings' body, is Clarence Fairchild, a close personal friend of Collings. He was to be questioned by Blue this afternoon.

An autopsy led Blue to believe that Collings first met his death on his cruiser 'Penguin,' then was bound hand and foot and thrown into Long Island sound last Wednesday. His body was washed up yesterday at Lloyd's neck.

Dr. Otto Schulze of Bellevue hospital, found that Collings had received a fracture of the skull, having been hit on the forehead and back by "terrible" blows. He was then bound so tightly that ropes cut into his flesh.

Mrs. Collings had told authorities she heard her husband cry: "They're trying me and putting me overboard." She has insisted under repeated questioning that two men boarded the yacht and kidnapped and attacked her in a small boat after drowning her husband.

Dr. Schulze arranged to have Collings' lungs examined by Dr. Alexander O. Gettler, New York toxicologist.

Mr. Blue said that Mrs. Collings would not be called until tomorrow for questioning.

Still Doubts Story

"I cannot say whether her story is a deliberate fabrication or the result of a wandering mind," he added. "Her whole story is of the most fantastic nature. I still do not believe it in all respects."

District Attorney Elvin N. Edwards of Nassau-co, who up to yesterday had taken charge of the case, only to lose it on grounds of jurisdiction to Mr. Blue, said the finding of the body supported his belief in Mrs. Collings' story.

Homer S. Cummings, attorney for Mrs. Collings, said his client was ready for more questioning, but that he was positive her earlier stories had been proved by the finding of the body. "There are always discrepancies in true stories," he said. "It is only fabricated stories that can be made to stand up."

Mrs. Collings was under the care of physicians today at her home in Stamford, Conn., relieved that her husband's body had been found, since it supported her story.

A possible clew to two such men as described by Mrs. Collings developed in Norwalk, Conn. Several persons said two men arrived in a motor boat last Thursday, took on gasoline, went into a nearby factory to dry their clothes and asked the way to New York.

One was described as being 40 to 50 with a beard. The other was a blond youth, about 18, deeply tanned.

BOAT SINKS; CREW LOST

Hamburg, Germany.—(P)— The motorship Ernestine, bound from Skien, Norway, to Flensburg, Germany, was reported to have sunk today with the loss of its crew of five.

LETTER CLEW IN DEATH OF WOMAN

Coroner Says Woman Wrote Professor Asking Him to Get Rid of Wife

Hampton, Va.—(P)— A coroner's jury late this afternoon returned a verdict that Mrs. Jenny Graham Kane came to her death by drowning last Friday at the hands of her husband in a premeditated murder.

George K. Vandervalle said in circuit court today that he believed a motive for the drowning of Mrs. Jenny Graham Kane was revealed in a letter signed "E. H. D." suggesting that Prof. Elisha Kent Kane of the University of Tennessee, get rid of his wife. He said he believed the letter was written by a Betty Dodd and that it had probably been destroyed.

The coroner, appearing in opposition to bail for the professor who is held for murder, did not explain how the contents of the letter was known to officers, who the woman was or why he identified her as the writer of the letter. He said, however, that he had other letters with the same signature suggesting travel in out-of-the-way places in Europe and the doing of unusual things.

BULLETIN

Stoughton, Wis.—(P)— Five men robbed the Citizens National bank of Stoughton before 3 o'clock this afternoon and escaped with an undetermined amount of loot.

Four of the robbers entered the bank while the fifth remained outside in an automobile. They forced five employees and three customers who were in the bank to lie on the floor while they grabbed up all the currency in sight. The robbers were between 35 and 40 years old.

Unusual Weather For Most Parts Of World This Year

New York.—(P)—The world groaned with weather complaint this summer.

America had drought and extraordinary heat waves. England had the coldest, wettest summer weather within living memory. Southeast central Europe experienced late spring and a June so hot schools had to be prematurely closed.

Germany's summer was remarkably short and marked by frequent sunless days. Italy alternately shivered and perspired. France had to go back to 1850 to find precedent for the chilly wetness that afflicted her.

Belgium lost 60 per cent of her wheat and oat crop. In unusually persistent rains and her potatoes rotted in the ground. Norway was extraordinarily cold. Denmark changed daily from brilliant sunshine to shivering temperatures and ducked sudden thunderstorms. Sweden was cold and rainy.

Turks froze in the northern districts and sweltered in the south.

Iceland got the "breaks" her summer, usually a matter of only a few days, extended almost unbroken for four months.

The West Indies had floods and storms and finally a hurricane. And across the Caribbean at Belize, British Honduras, lie the wreckage of one of the year's greatest storm disasters.

Japan had a typhoon to leave death on the island of Formosa.

Hundreds Crowd Streets To Witness Fall Opening

Although showers necessitated calling off the pavement dance and automobile show, they failed to dampen the ardor of throngs of persons who gathered on College-ave Wednesday evening to witness the fall opening of Appleton retail business establishments.

Hundreds paraded up and down College-ave viewing with awe the elaborate window displays. They saw the latest creations in women's fall fashions, men's suits, hats and top coats, and children's garments. Display windows were lighted simultaneously at 7:30 last night.

A few automobile dealers ventured out with the latest model cars for display in the roped off parking area on north and south lanes of College-ave between Walnut and Superior, but threatening skies kept the majority of dealers out of it. Two long strings of lights were erected yesterday afternoon on each side of the street to lend attractiveness to the show.

The grand prize in the window display contest was won by the grocery department of the Bonini meat market at 304 E. College-ave. The Bonini store also won first place in the grocery store division and received a ribbon.

Only 12 divisions were judged, there being no competition in the other three groups scheduled to receive prize banners, according to the report, chairman of the contest committee.

Judges were Dr. O. P. Fairfield of Lawrence college, Harvey Schlitz of Austin Saecker.

Stores winning first prize banners were: Pettibone Peabody Co., Ideal Photo Shop, Fashion Shop, A. Galpin and Sons, Hopfensperger Bros., Hughes Clothing Co., Bellings Drug Store, Walk-Over Shoe Co., Kelley's Furniture Co., Hall Radio Studio, and Bonini's grocery store.

Threatening skies failed to keep the 120th Field Artillery band from playing several selections at various street intersections on College-ave. The band was forced to retreat early in the evening, however, when the first shower broke.

Everything was in readiness for the pavement dance on S. Oneida-st between College-ave and Lawrence-st, but rain put an end to this. A band stand had been erected on the sidewalk in front of the public library for the Artillery band.

Electric light poles on College-ave were decorated with natural foliage and modernistic cutouts of the retail division of the chamber of commerce.

Bar Now Is On Record As Dry Law Foe

Atlantic City, N. J.—(P)— The American Bar association today went formally on record as favoring repeal of the prohibition amendment. The first time the association's vote had been reported to a convention of the association, though the vote was announced several months ago.

The executive committee announced the results for the referendum last year as showing 13,779 members of the association as favoring repeal and 6,340 opposed. The total vote of 20,119 represented 75 per cent of the association's membership. There was no discussion of the report, and prohibition was not scheduled for consideration by the convention.

A previous vote on whether a referendum should be conducted showed 14,732 in favor, and 5,625 against. After that vote the referendum on the repeal was held.

Memphis, Tenn.—(P)— Charles A. Boston, president, recalled a recommendation of George Washington for the erection of public distilleries to supply spirits to the Revolutionary army, and suggested that the recommendation, if it had been followed, would have saved the country from the present prohibition situation.

LILLENTAL ON COUNCIL

Madison.—(P)—David S. Lillenthal, member of the Public Service commission has been elected to the council of the American Bar association at its convention at Atlantic City. Mr. Lillenthal will act as representative of the public utilities section.

MILWAUKEE'S TINY YACHT AT GIBRALTAR

Gibraltar.—(P)— William Albert Robinson, 28, of Milwaukee, dropped the anchor of his 16-ton ketch-razed yacht Swamp in the harbor here today, arriving from the Balearic Islands.

He had encountered much bad weather, he said, but planned to continue his voyage back to the United States by way of the Canary Islands. He left New York in June, 1928, and when he gets back he will have covered 31,000 miles.

LINDBERGHS ARRIVE AT FUKUOKA FROM OSAKA

Fukuoka, Japan.—(P)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived here at 4:01 p. m., (2:31 a. m., eastern standard time) today after a 300 mile flight from Osaka. From here they will proceed to China in continuation of their aerial voyage tour of the Orient. The Lindberghs took off from Osaka, Japanese industrial city, at 12:58 p. m., today (10:58 Wednesday, eastern standard time).

FARMER KILLED WHEN CAR AND TRUCK CRASH

Manitowoc.—(P)— Dan Gallagher, 66, town of Newton, farmer, was instantly killed last night when the truck in which he was riding collided with a car driven by Herbert Johnson, Kohler. The accident occurred on Highway 141, ten miles south of here. Gallagher's son was driving the truck. A coroner's inquest will be held.

MOYLE, ALLEN ARE READY TO RESUME FLIGHT

Fliers Uninjured and Plane Undamaged in Landing on Island

Seattle.—(P)—Turning up safely aboard a little Russian ship in the Bering sea after having been missing nine days subsequent to their takeoff on a projected flight from Japan to Seattle, Don Moyle and C. A. Allen, California fliers, today radioed a call for the services of a publicity man and announced they were ready to fly some more.

The United States Naval Radio station on St. Paul Island, in the Bering set, late last night received a wireless from the Russian steamer Buriat, saying Moyle and Allen had landed on Navarin Island, Siberia, when their fuel and oil gave out.

The message said neither the fliers nor their plane was hurt when they landed and that they were ready to fly out of the Siberian area as soon as a current storm subsided. Their big monoplane, the message said, had been refueled and was ready for flight. Where they obtained aviation gasoline was vague. It said Moyle and Allen might start for Seattle, but added they might go back toward Tokyo.

Neither did the message say whether the plane was brought on the steamer to Milano, on Tiligino Island, where the little ship set the fliers ashore yesterday after having picked them up at Navarin.

2,300 Miles From Japan

Navarin Island is off Cape Navarin, Siberia, about 2,300 miles north of Samushiro beach, Japan, from which the fliers took off Sept. 7 on a projected 4,465-mile non-stop flight to Seattle. It is several hundred miles north of the circular route which they had mapped as their course to Seattle. Navarin is west and slightly south of Nome, Alaska.

The message telling of their safe-ty, sent from the Buriat yesterday, and addressed to Miss Frances Ereson, fiancée of Moyle, at Riverside, Calif., said:

"Landed on uninhabited island. Everything all right. Have Frank put publicity man on job. Will be in Seattle Sept. 22."

The reference to hiring a publicity man was not clear here, but by "Frank" the fliers presumably meant Frank Ereson, brother of Miss Ereson and one of the sponsors of the flight.

At the takeoff the ship carried 1,020 gallons of gasoline, which was considered enough to keep the plane in the air about 47 hours. Just when they reached Navarin Islands, which by direct flying would have required only about 22 hours out of Samushiro, was not stated.

The Buriat reported she had supplied the gasoline to refuel the Moyle-Allyn plane and that the fliers were planning a takeoff today, weather permitting. The ship said both men and plane were in good condition. However, it reported high winds and heavy seas at Navarin.

HUNDRED LIVES LOST IN MEXICAN HURRICANE

Mexico City.—(P)—Upwards of 100 lives were lost in hurricanes that ravaged the Lower California Peninsula over the weekend and descended on the Vera Cruz Gulf coast yesterday. It was estimated from dispatches today.

A report to the National Telegraph said more than 100 persons were killed at Santa Rosalia, Lower California, and dispatches from La Paz, capital of the southern district of the peninsula, said eight were lost when small vessels in the gulf were wrecked by the tempest in addition to a number of ships still missing.

From Progresso, Yucatan and Vera Cruz City came reports that numerous coastwise ships and fishing smacks had not been heard from and had likely foundered or went aground in the Vera Cruz gulf. Vera Cruz harbor was described as clogged with the wreckage of small ships. Vessels averaging between 40 and 50 tons in size were lost in the harbor, although their crews managed to escape.

TEAR GAS DISRUPTS JONESBORO SERVICE

Jonesboro, Ark.—(P)— Explosion of a tear gas bomb in the tent tabernacle of the Rev. Joe Jeffers, crusading Baptist evangelist, during services last night was under investigation here today.

The explosion threw the congregation of about 4,000 into confusion, causing most of them to flee from the tent. Jeffers, center of a church controversy here, attributed it to "the chief of police or persons from Jonesboro state college."

Officers said they believed the bomb was stolen from the stores of the national guard detachment here which is composed largely of college students.

SHORTER DAY AND WEEK

"Third: Provide by law a shorter work day and work week. We recommend a six-hour day and a five-day week without reduction in funds. Bills owned and operated by the state would be perfectly safe places of deposit of funds. Such banks would also help break the grip of the monopoly of finance."

The letter, dated Sept. 14, was signed by William Coleman, state secretary of the Socialist party.

IN CHARGE OF BANK

Madison.—(P)—The appointment of William C. Tappan, Milwaukee, as special deputy commissioner of banking to take charge of the defunct Franklin State bank, Milwaukee, was announced here today by Thomas Herrell, acting commissioner of banking.

RAP GOVERNOR FOR INACTION ON JOB RELIEF

Demand Shorter Day and Week for Workers and Compensation Act

ALSO WANT NEW BANK

Would Have Institutions Given Right to Make Small Loans

Milwaukee.—(P)—The Socialist party today made public a letter written to Gov. Philip F. LaFollette condemning his administration for permitting sine die adjournment of the legislature without providing sufficient funds for unemployment relief.

The letter, authorized by the executive committee of the party, urges a special calling of a special session to consider immediate relief for the needy, provisions for an effective unemployment compensation act, legislation for shorter working days and a shorter working week, and creation of a state owned bank.

"It has been reported by the press," the letter reads, "that you are considering the matter of calling the Wisconsin legislators into special session. The Socialist members of the legislature were also informed, before the close of the last session, by administrative leaders and yourself that you would issue any early call. However, the days are swiftly passing. Shortly the people of this state, particularly in the industrial centers, will be face to face with what will, from all indications, be the most severe winter from an economic standpoint, due to the breakdown of the capitalist system."

"You must realize that, if there is to be any relief from the present unemployment situation, it is imperative that action and not words will be the only way of coping with it. It is therefore clear that it is the duty of yourself and the legislature to provide the necessary help to those who, through no fault of their own, are forced to suffer without any sign of relief in the near future."

PROPOSALS LISTED

"We request you include in your call the following propositions to be acted on at the special session:

"First: Immediate relief for the needy. An appropriation from the general fund in the sum of $5,000,000 to be appropriated to counties and municipalities during the next month, the money to be replaced in the general fund through tax measures by increasing the upper bracket on incomes of $5,000 or over and also by increasing the inheritance taxes."

The letter says the first proposition should have been taken care of at the previous session of the legislature and there is no sign of improvement in the state of the political bunkum as voiced by the national leaders in the Republican party."

"Second: In order that, in the future, temporary relief may not be required, it is imperative that the matter of unemployment compensation or insurance be considered. The funds should be raised jointly by the employers and the state. The workers should not be made to share this further burden. The state's share should be raised by increasing both the income and the inheritance taxes on incomes over a specific amount."

"Third: Provide by law a shorter work day and work week. We recommend a six-hour day and a five-day week without reduction in funds. Bills owned and operated by the state would be perfectly safe places of deposit of funds. Such banks would also help break the grip of the monopoly of finance."

The letter, dated Sept. 14, was signed by William Coleman, state secretary of the Socialist party.

IN CHARGE OF BANK

Madison.—(P)—The appointment of William C. Tappan, Milwaukee, as special deputy commissioner of banking to take charge of the defunct Franklin State bank, Milwaukee, was announced here today by Thomas Herrell, acting commissioner of banking.

Britain's Fleet On Way Home On Wage Adjustment Pledge

PASSIVE STRIKE ON BOARD SHIPS BROUGHT TO END

Reports of Unrest in Other Quarters Received by Great Britain

London — (AP) — The fighting hulls of Great Britain's restless Atlantic fleet were steaming quietly toward their home ports today on the strength of the admiralty's pledge that any hardships resulting from wage reductions would be adjusted.

Twelve vessels left Invergordon, Scotland, last night for Inverness, Portsmouth, Plymouth and Chatham after their crews had been told of officials' decision. There was some delay in weighing anchors until the men were assured that the ships would not be redirected to distant stations.

While the passive mutiny in the Atlantic squadron has temporarily been called off, reports were received of unrest in other quarters. The Daily Mail said the air force at Malta was discontented over pay cuts but no trouble had occurred. The Mediterranean fleet at Gibraltar was said to be quietly awaiting the outcome of the admiralty's investigation.

Some misgivings were expressed in the house of commons last night as to how the navy's example would affect the attitude of the army and the police forces, whose salaries also have been reduced by the government's economy program. Labor members attempted to open debate on the subject but the government defeated their move by a substantial majority.

The Daily Herald printed a letter from the leaders of the Invergordon movement to the admiralty issuing a virtual ultimatum that unless the reductions were revised upward their followers would go on strike.

"Fore-runner of Tragedy"

"It is evident to all concerned," the newspaper said, "that these cuts are a fore-runner of tragedy, misery and immolation among the families of the lower deck, and unless a guaranteed written agreement is received from the admiralty, confirmed by parliament, that our pay will be revised we are still to remain as one unit, refusing to serve under the new rates."

The Herald's correspondent at Cromarty Firth told how "the proud vessels of the navy lay idle and helpless while 12,000 sailors refused to obey orders. The crews were in actual control of the ships, he said, while the officers stood by helplessly."

When the commander-in-chief of the fleet signaled the battleship Valiant Thursday morning to lead the departure for autumn maneuvers in the North sea, her crew stayed below decks and ignored orders. The officers decided themselves to weigh the anchors but the leaders warned them as soon as they raised one the men would drop anchor.

Describing how the strike spread to other ships, the dispatch said, "The Valiant remained at anchor. Soon the sailors came from below decks and crowded forward. The cheer they raised was taken up on the other ships and the strike was on."

One sailor spokesman, speaking reports of Communist influence, said, "There is nothing of Bolshevism about this protest. Ninety per cent of us have seen Russia and we are not having anything like that here."

Another said: "We are fighting for our wives and children. The cuts cannot hit us aboard ship. But our wives, after the rent is paid, have only a pound left. How can they stand a cut of seven shillings and sixpence?" (About $1.87.)

Pay Cut Unrest In Britain's Navy

These pictures help tell the story of the serious problem faced by Great Britain in the "general strike" among enlisted men of its Atlantic fleet, the first major break in the traditional loyalty of England's navy in a thousand years, except for a mutiny in 1797. The men refused to work, following dissatisfaction over recent pay cuts. The top picture shows the great battle cruiser Hood, while below is a scene aboard the H. M. S. Rodney, pride of Britain's navy, as the men exercised. Both of these vessels are at the remote Scottish port of Invergordon, in the heart of the trouble zone. Left is Sir Austen Chamberlain, first lord of the admiralty, who copes with the problem.

6 CASES OF DISEASE REPORTED IN COUNTY

Only six cases of contagion were reported from Outagamie co in the week ending Sept. 12, according to a report received by Miss Marie Klein, county nurse, from the state department of health. Four of the six cases were reported from Appleton, three of whooping cough and one of tuberculosis. The city of Kaukauna and the village of Kimberly each reported a case of tuberculosis.

ACCUSED VIOLATORS OF DRY LAW JAILED

Marquette, Mich. — (AP) — Charged with sale and possession of liquor in violation of the prohibition laws, Mary Slevatski, Crystal Falls; Della Erickson, Sunset Lake; Emil Urban, Stambaugh, and William Erbin, Gastra, were held in the county jail today to await federal court action. They were unable to raise bond which was set at $1,000 each for the women and $3,000 each for the men. Their arrests Tuesday night brought the total seized in peninsular liquor raids in the last four weeks to 55.

FIND MAN GUILTY ON SLANDER CHARGE

Fred A. Mueller Fined $100 and Costs; Appeal Is Contemplated

A jury in municipal court yesterday found Fred A. Mueller, town of Center, guilty of malicious slander, and Judge Theodore Berg imposed a fine of $100 and costs. Mueller has not yet paid the fine and it was indicated at the courthouse today that he is contemplating an appeal. Mueller was arrested on a complaint of William J. Caliebe, center town clerk who charged that Mueller made slanderous statements about him at a town meeting. It was charged that Mueller falsely accused Caliebe of misappropriating $2 of the town's money.

Mueller once was center town clerk. Two years ago he opposed Caliebe for the office and was defeated. A large crowd was present in court during the three days the trial

COTTON PLAN DEBATED BY OKLAHOMA GROWERS

Oklahoma City — (AP) — A definite move to bring about a reduction in cotton and wheat acreage by limitation of planting and enforced rotation was under way in Oklahoma today.

Representatives of wheat and cotton growing counties, meeting at the call of Gov. W. H. Murray, agreed yesterday upon a plan to confine 1932 cotton acreage to one-third and wheat acreage to two-thirds of the state's tillable land.

The plan provides that farmers could not lawfully plant cotton on the same land two years in succession. Wheat could not be planted for more than three years on the same land.

The governor said the proposal would become effective when enacted into law and three-fourths of the other cotton or wheat producing states adopted similar legislation.

was in progress. They remained until 2:45 yesterday afternoon when the verdict was read. The jury retired at 12:30, but went to lunch immediately and did not start deliberating until 1:30.

DON'T TINKER WITH LAW OF SUPPLY AND DEMAND--WHITNEY

Stock Exchange Head Issues Warning to New York Merchants

New York — (AP) — Attempts to tinker with the ancient law of supply and demand by injecting artificial measures to stimulate or depress its normal operation may well lengthen the business slump and retard recovery, said Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock exchange, in an address to the New York Merchants' association today.

"Before the flood-tide of prosperity can return," he said, "invisible undercurrents and the pull of unseen economic forces must exhaust themselves. These forces respond to laws vital to human control. If in our vanity we cannot or will not learn this lesson, if we still insist upon attempting to oppose futile obstacles to the inevitable course of events and to swim against their mighty currents, our folly will be upon our own heads."

"It remains for us to heed the principle of supply and demand to govern our actions in accordance with its dictates, and thereby hasten the return of a prosperity based upon the sound and lasting foundation of natural law."

Mr. Whitney made no attempt to predict when the return would come although he did say that from the perspective of 1940, "the extreme optimism of 1929 and the unmitigated gloom of 1930 and 1931 will appear equally exaggerated and ridiculous."

His "Weak Counsel"

"Weak and uncertain counsel" from business leaders have not helped the present predicament, in Mr. Whitney's opinion.

"There have been too many suave statements that reassure nobody, too many empty platitudes, too great a lack of frankness and realism, too much of an attitude of trying to whistle in the graveyard at midnight. On the other hand, the occasion has called forth the usual crop of calamity-howlers, alarmists and irresponsible publicity-mongers with some personal axe to grind."

Pointing out that supply and demand got out of adjustment during and after the World war, through artificial fixation and control of prices, Mr. Whitney said the nation was still paying the penalty for such policies and had not yet learned the true economic lessons of its war experience.

"The price of success is bound to be obedience to the law of supply and demand," he said. "Waste can and should be eliminated, by-products fully utilized, invention stimulated and better products perfected. Hard work and constructive thought, rather than idle lamentations or the pursuit of futile panaceas, must be the order of the day. All such efforts are in fundamental harmony with the law of supply and demand. They constitute the methods by which America has successfully met the challenge of depression many times before, and can meet it again."

Asserting that all must share in the readjustment, Mr. Whitney said there should be "no favored classes or privileged industries."

"The retailer cannot hope to maintain his own price when the prices at which he can purchase have fallen. Wages must justify themselves on the basis of production and performance. Attempts to help one industry at the expense of others, or one section of the country at the expense of other sections, must be avoided."

"We cannot hope to re-establish any sound or lasting prosperity if we create in American business life a set of Robin Hoods to steal from one class in order to give free alms to another."

On Lost Plane

Feared to have been forced down at sea, by fog and thunderstorms, Christian Johanssen (above), veteran German aviator, and his two copilot of the monoplane Esca, became objects of a widespread search along the Atlantic coast. They took off from Portugal on an attempted non-stop flight to New York and were sighted by a liner off Cape Race.

ASSOCIATION TO BOOST NEW HIGHWAY ROUTE

The Chicago-Twin Cities Highway association was organized this week at a dinner meeting of about 100 representatives from 15 villages and cities at Wautoma. The association will have for its purpose the advertising of the new and shorter concrete surfaced route between Chicago and Minneapolis-St. Paul. The organization decided to print 50,000 folders advertising the route and distribute them with information bureaus of the American Automobile association.

EXPECT BIG CROWD AT TELEVISION LECTURE

A large crowd is expected at Appleton vocational school Thursday evening to hear the free lecture on television arranged by the University of Wisconsin Extension division in cooperation with the vocational school.

The lecture will be given by Sam Sneed, instructor in radio communication at the Milwaukee center of the university extension division.

The speaker will discuss television's possibilities. He will explain the principles involved and illustrate his talk with 40 stereopticon slides.

HEILIG, NOYES AT WAUSAU CONFERENCE

Herb Heilig, director of Appleton vocational school and H. G. Noyes, itinerant coordinator left Thursday morning for Wausau to attend a two-day conference of state vocational school executives. Plans probably will be formulated at the meeting for statewide surveys in various industries.

COMMITTEE TO MEET

The county highway committee will meet Monday afternoon at the courthouse, according to Frank Appleton, highway commissioner. The committee will review road work now under construction and transact other routine business.

City Council Orders Purchase Of New Car For Police Department

ACTION TAKEN ON ADVICE OF POLICE BOARD

Commission Believes Squad Automobile Is Better Than Motorcycles

Boring its way inch by inch through a huge pile of detail, the council Wednesday night ordered the purchase of a new police car, passed a resolution asking for the rigid enforcement of speed laws and other safety measures, awarded the contract for the Bellare storm sewer, and adopted plans for the new bridge over the John-st. canal.

Although most of the evening's business was accomplished in the first hour, an epidemic of last-minute minor matters kept the group arguing this and that until practically all the old standbys, from junk dealers to county control of the city home, had a chance to poke their heads into the meeting.

The chairman of the police and license committee, the bid of the Saterstrom Chevrolet company on a new police squad car, eventually adopted by an 8 to 4 vote, hit a temporary snag when Alderman Mike Steinhauer objected to adding another car declaring that there is neither a garage to house it nor men to run it. He criticized the police board for suggesting the additional equipment, saying that the recommendation should come from the chief of police, not from the board. After objecting to sending out a squad car with only one officer in it, the first ward alderman asked that the matter be sent back to the committee for further discussion.

Explains Position
The chairman of the police and license committee, Philip Vogt, explained that the committee had advised the purchase of the car, by a 4 to 2 vote, upon the advice of the police board that a squad car would be more practical than the two motorcycles requested by the police department. He said that he and Alderman Oren Earle had voted against the purchase of the car, but the committee majority agreed that the decision of the group had come after several months of discussion and investigation.

Protesting the return of the matter to the police and license committee, Alderman C. J. Wassenberg pointed out the advantage of a squad car over motorcycles. Alderman voting against the purchase of the car was C. O. Davis, Steinhauser, C. D. Thompson, and Vogt.

Contract for the Bellare storm sewer was awarded to the low bidder, Gray and Robinson Construction company, Manitowish, upon the condition that all local labor be employed with the exception of three present employees of the company. The bid was $15,855 a foot, while the R. J. Wilson bid was $23,500 a foot. The sewer which was to be installed on South River-st. this summer cost the city $13,500 a foot.

The clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for the new bridge over Telulah canal on John-st. plans for which were adopted by the council. Highmore plant in the town of Grand Chute also was approved.

No More Responsibility
A resolution releasing the Wisconsin Michigan Power company from further responsibility for railway tracks in the city was adopted. The Power company, which has completed its program of track removal and covering in the city, will complete its negotiations in this matter with the payment of $5,700 to the city, its share in the cost of the resurfacing of S. Oneida-st. and the removal of some of the rails on this street.

The poor committee recommended two projects for the relief of the local unemployment situation, the addition of nine holes to the Municipal golf course, and immediate work on installation of storm sewers, hand labor to be used in both projects. The street and bridge committee will select the streets in which storm sewers are to be laid, and the finance committee will confer with the park board on the petition to enlarge the Municipal golf course. The Junior Chamber of Commerce also requested an extension to the golf course.

The report of the fire and water committee advising that a water main be installed on N. Bennett-st. from Commercial to Winnebago, and that the water department be authorized for water mains be done by hand labor, as a means of providing employment, was adopted. The mayor pointed out that it would be hardly fair to property owners to assess them for hand labor, if machines could do the work cheaper.

WIFE KILLED, BROKER NEAR DEATH IN CRASH

Chicago —(AP)—Dumas V. McFall, wealthy broker and attorney, was near death today after an automobile accident in which his wife, Mrs. Kathryn McFall, 36, was fatally injured.

Two men riding in a peach-laden truck, with which the McFall machine collided, were less seriously hurt. They were Herman Zirk, living near Eau Claire, Wis., and Carroll George, Hartford, Mich.

The occupants of both cars were pulled out of the wreckage shortly after the crash. Mrs. McFall, who was driving, was slightly burned about the head in addition to his other injuries.

INFLATION PROGRAM ADVOCATED BY U. W. ECONOMICS PROF.

Would Use It as Method to Stabilize Prices at 1926 Level

Chicago —(AP)—The proposal that the federal government engineer, as a stabilizing monetary influence in the current economic depression, inflation through "greenbacks" and "flat money" until the 1926 price level is reached was made here yesterday, by Prof. John R. Commons, University of Wisconsin economist.

His suggestions were submitted to farm leaders, economists and editors of agricultural publications who met for the first of a series of conferences designed to place the level of prices once again at the general level of 1926.

The program adopted by the conference, headed by Ralph Snyder, head of the Kansas Farm bureau, will be presented at the December annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau federation, sponsor of the conference.

"The main question now," said Professor Commons, "is how to get purchasing power back into the hands of the people. We have a greenback method. The only thing is the willingness of officials to use them."

"This flat money can be used in the payment of federal salaries and for payment of every government debt we owe, except interest on public debt. It could be used as a sole for the unemployed. It could be used in taking up farm mortgages and in liquidating the government to take over the mortgages."

"The Federal Reserve board could require its banks to buy a billion dollars more securities. That would increase the lending power of the banks. It would be a great step towards inflation and the restoration of the 1926 price level. Then we could stabilize it."

The banks would begin to sell securities and the federal reserve would have the power to deflate. Afterwards the greenbacks could be retired at a time that would prevent prices from going above the 1926 level.

"If you want to go after it hard enough, you can have an inflation that will get back the 1926 price levels so fast it will scare everyone. I think it is perfectly reasonable. What the farmers now need is to get their money back in the pockets of the people."

The Federal Reserve board, Professor Commons said, has ample power under the law to issue and retire "greenbacks" or "flat money."

LETTER TELLS ABOUT CHICAGO POLICE GRAFT

Note Supposedly Written by "Mike de Pike" Heitler Is Made Public

Chicago —(AP)—The supposed slaying of "Mike de Pike" Heitler, underworld figure, had an aftermath today in a letter supposedly dictated by him purporting to expose police graft collections and to reveal the motive for the gangland killing of Jack Zuta. Zuta was slain about a year ago at a Wisconsin summer resort.

Alphonse Capone's name was mentioned in the letter which purported to reveal a plan of the gang chief's organization to win control of the vice, liquor and gambling businesses on Chicago's west side, in which it became necessary to bring about Zuta's death.

The state's attorney's office, reported to have received the letter, promptly denied its receipt. Likewise Patrick Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney said his department had never received any such letter. He admitted, however, that he had been informed of its contents many months ago and that he had investigated every allegation it made, but that no legal proof could be obtained in support of the epistle.

Mention was made in the letter of the slaying of Alfred J. Lingle, crime reporter, fatally shot a year ago last June, with an intimation that Capone antipathy was responsible for Lingle's death.

The Chicago Tribune, however, which with other Chicago newspapers, published the letter, quoted Roche as saying that the epistle "does not give anything like a motive for the Lingle murder."

"I believe I know the motive for that crime," Roche said, "but at present it cannot be proved legally. There was no doubt, he added, of the guilt of Leo V. Brothers of St. Louis, who was convicted and sentenced to 14 years for Lingle's death. Brothers' counsel has appealed."

The body of a man, burned beyond recognition, was found amid the ruins of an ice house destroyed by fire last April 28 near Barrington, Ill., was believed by authorities to have been that of Heitler whose supposed letter expressed fear that eight men, whom he named, would kill him.

"I will say," the letter said, "that if anything happens I will keep these people responsible."

"Bill Skidmore, Al Quisik (Alphonse Capone), Jack Quisik (Jack Guleick), Bruno—, Rockys—, Jimmie Dolacstra (James Dolacstra), some times referred to as 'the King of Bombers', Dago Lawrence, (Dago Lawrence Mangano, a gambler), Jimmie Duca."

The letter was supposed to have come into the possession of a lawyer, and to have been dictated to a woman friend of "Mike de Pike."

Capone denies charges. "I called by Dago Lawrence, Jimmy Dolacstra, Jim Duca," one section of it said, "and Rockys came along and we had a meeting so they decided to give captain—15 hundred a month, and to go along for the time being."

Capone himself ridiculed the charges made in the letter. He was interviewed by the Tribune.

PLANE FIGHTS WEATHER IN RACE WITH DEATH

Anchorage, Alaska —(AP)—Handicapped by wind, rain and fog, Pilot Al Monsen of the Pacific International Airways, battled his way on a 600-mile trip to Tokatna and return in six hours to bring two women, one white, the other an Indian, to the hospital here for medical treatment.

Death won, however, after he brought his passengers to this city alive Tuesday. Mrs. Charles Bink, the white woman, and a baby born to the native woman, died during the night. The mother is expected to survive.

SEVEN PEOPLE ARE INJURED IN CAR ACCIDENTS

Three of Crash Victims Suffer Broken Noses; Four Taken to Hospital

Seven persons were injured in accidents in Appleton and vicinity yesterday and this morning. It was necessary to take four of the victims to St. Elizabeth hospital.

The list of injured follows: S. C. Honeck, Milwaukee, broken nose, bruises to chest and cuts on leg. Kenneth Prunty, town of Ellington, broken nose, face and legs cut. James Prunty, town of Ellington, father of Kenneth, foot crushed, right leg bruised, scalp wound.

Ray Haase, 510 E. Randall-st., broken nose and cuts and bruises. Miss Edna Piek, Reedsville, minor cuts and bruises. Henry Deffke, Reedsville, minor cuts and bruises. Roy Kubale, Reedsville, minor cuts and bruises.

On Highway 47
Honeck and the Pruntys were injured when their cars collided on Highway 47, near the Triangle school house, about 2:30 yesterday afternoon. Both cars were badly damaged and Under Sheriff Edward Lutz, who was summoned to make an investigation, took the Pruntys to the hospital. Honeck was taken to the hospital by another motorist, whose name was not learned. The Ellington men were released from the hospital after their injuries were attended to and Honeck was to be released today. The younger Prunty was driving the car, which was going east on Highway 76, and Honeck was going west when the accident happened.

Crash Near Gardens
Haase was injured when the car in which he was riding on Highway 41, near Rainbow Gardens, figured in a collision with a machine driven by Joseph Negresau, Oak Park, Ill., a student at Lawrence college. The left rear wheel came off the car driven by Negresau, and the car skidded and collided with a machine driven by Louis Huerst, route 5, Appleton. Haase was riding with Huerst. Both cars were badly damaged and Huerst was brought to St. Elizabeth hospital. This crash occurred about 2:30 yesterday afternoon as Negresau was driving toward Appleton and the Haase car was going the other way. Peter Van Ouden, a county motorcycle officer, investigated the crash.

Three Reedsville people were slightly injured when the car in which they were riding crashed into a special Green Bay bound, Green Bay and Western train in Seymour at 1:30 Thursday morning.

Occupants of the car, who received minor lacerations and bruises were Miss Edna Piek, Henry Deffke and Roy Kubale all of Reedsville. Returning to their homes, they were driving south on Highway 55. The car was demolished.

FAIR, COOL WEATHER PREDICTED FRIDAY

Skies will be clear tonight and Friday and the mercury is due for a drop, the weatherman says in predictions for the next 24 hours.

About 10 inches of rain fell here Wednesday night, bringing the total rainfall recorded since Sunday's showers to 4.92 inches, according to George Allanson, Menasha lock tender and weather venter.

FINISH SURVEY IN APPLETON OF BUYING HABITS

Data to Be Assimilated for Publication by "Time" Staff

Research details were completed Wednesday in the city-wide survey of the variation of community buying habits launched six weeks ago by Time Incorporated, publishers of the magazines "Time" and "Fortune."

The data will be assimilated for publication by the editorial staff of "Time" magazine.

Robert Johnson, New York, vice president of "Time," declared that this survey is the most outstanding piece of research ever done on the subject of distribution. Several smaller studies have been made of the buying habits of districts, but never before has a typical community been covered and minutely surveyed.

The work was accomplished in three divisions from the standpoint of the consumer, the merchant and the analysis of classes of people and what type of materials they buy. In the house to house canvass of more than 1,200 Appleton homes, it was found that merchandise the housewife usually buys is such that she knew she was buying and the type of goods she would like to buy for her home. From a merchant analysis the survey will show the trends of certain goods and present the exact data on the quantity and type of merchandise which this community consumes.

The survey was completed in less time than was expected, which was attributed by the officers in charge of the work to the splendid cooperation of Appleton merchants.

Charles L. Stillman, New York, treasurer of "Time" magazine and in charge of the survey, declared that Appleton is one of the most progressive minded communities he has ever visited. He praises the cooperation of the merchants in their efforts to make the survey a success. He also asserted that the success of a survey of this type depended wholly on the fact that complete and exact data was obtained.

Besides the 50 office employees, several Appleton women and members of charity organizations assisted with the project. It has been decided whether the data will be published in book form or in several bulletins, each portraying a part of the survey.

ASKS SUPPORT FOR OPPORTUNITY ROOMS

Dr. Henrietta V. Race, Madison, Speaks at Kiwanis Meeting

Dr. Henrietta V. Race, Madison, psychiatrist of the state department of public instruction, explained the work in opportunity schoolrooms throughout the state and the need for more adequate support of the work of Kiwanians at their weekly luncheon meeting Wednesday at Con way hotel.

Dr. Race declared that support of the state legislature is inadequate for the 1,600 students in opportunity rooms in the state. These retarded students must be examined before they enter school, according to Dr. Race, and in many cases the child in the opportunity room needs individual attention to improve his slowness in one or more subjects.

"If the men in the state were asked to support the opportunity schools," Dr. Race asserted, "it would take but 10 cents a year, and with the help of the women the amount would be still lower."

William F. Paulkes, Madison, district governor elect, Paul F. Neversman, Marinette, district governor and Joshua L. Johns, Algoma, international trustee were guests.

STUDENTS ENCOURAGE LITERARY ENDEAVOR

With the purpose of stimulating literary endeavor among high school students and to encourage amateur theatricals, about 50 student members of the Masque and Book club met Wednesday afternoon at Appleton high school.

The club was organized by student demand last spring by members of the English department at the high school. Miss Alice Peterson and Miss Sophia Elmer, English teachers, are sponsors of the organization. The membership of the group is open only to juniors and seniors.

The program for Wednesday's meeting included the reading of a short story by Harvey Wolfgram and the reading of an original poem by William Chopin.

SCORES HEAVY DRINKING BY DRY RAIDERS

Commissioner at Green Bay Declares He Will No Longer Tolerate Practice

Commissioner John F. Watermelon, in United States court at Green Bay, yesterday, scored what he termed excessive drinking on the part of dry agents in their efforts to secure evidence on which search warrants can be issued. The outbreak came during the preliminary hearing of Roland Gerlach, Appleton, arrested Sept. 8 in a raid on Hickory Grove Inn on the Lake-rd, just south of the city limits.

Gerlach was charged with illegal sale and possession of liquor and maintaining a nuisance when the dry squad found beer, whiskey, alcohol and gin in the place. Gerlach, who was not represented by counsel at the hearing, conducted his own defense. He testified that Joe Stawanski, a federal dry agent, visited his place on Aug. 28 and purchased 10 beers and eight whiskeys. He said the dry agent drank half of these. It was at that juncture that Commissioner Watermelon declared he would no longer tolerate such longer this excessive drinking by the dry agents.

It was Gerlach's contention that his case should be dismissed because the search warrant stated that whiskey had been sold. Gerlach claimed he had engaged a bartender on the day the whiskey was purchased and that there was only beer in the place on which a search warrant could be based.

The court, however, bound Gerlach over to the October term of federal court in Milwaukee for trial. He furnished bonds of $500.

Glen Kaufman, proprietor of the Green Lantern Inn on Highway 47, three miles north of Appleton, and George Piek, proprietor, William Peterson, bartender, and Charles Smith, cook and porter, of a soft drink parlor at 516 W. College-ave, all waived their preliminary hearings yesterday afternoon and were bound over to the same term of federal court. They each furnished bonds of $500. These places were raided the same time as Gerlach's.

Persons arrested in four other raids at the same time also have been bound over to federal court.

Aimee Is 4th M'Pherson To Marry In Last Year

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press
Hollywood—Wedding bells are ringing all over the vicinity of the four square temple in Los Angeles today to celebrate the elopement wedding of Evangelist Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton at Yuma, Arizona, in an airplane before sunrise on Sunday. Wedding bells have rung four times during the past year for the McPhersons but none of the other bridegrooms was quite so unexpected or so generally unknown to the bride's intimate friends as was the temple audience. The other three marriages have been those of Robert, the daughter; Rolf, the son; and Ma Kennedy, the mother of Aimee.

It is true that David L. Hutton, of Pasadena, Aimee's bridegroom, sang the baritone role in one of Aimee's numerous religious operas at the temple last June, but on that occasion he was regarded as Pharaoh rather than as suitor and behind the sumptuous costume well heard of the former role the latter was so well disguised that even when Hutton strolled around the temple today only a few of the workers recognized him.

The new husband is 30 years old, his bride gave her age as 35. Five feet nine inches tall, weighing 235 pounds, he has a husky build, very blue eyes and brown hair parted on the side, his smooth face is rather boyish in expression despite a tendency toward double chin and he has a beaming smile with dimples.

For some time Hutton has been interested in religious work, singing at various evangelistic services besides those at the temple. He has been a vocal instructor in Pasadena and also had a music studio in Hollywood, where, however, he is not widely known. During his evangelistic work he formed a friendship with George Kodachewer who will be remembered as a singer at the old Billy Sunday revival. With his bride, Hutton plans to compose 20 oratorical songs with the aim of setting the Bible to music. Similarity in the names between Aimee's new husband, Hutton, and her mother's recent husband "What a Man" Hudson appears matched to a certain extent by the fact that both were born on Sunday. Aimee's father, when asked today if he were happy, replied in almost Hudson's words to a similar query: "We are the happiest pair in the world."

The tour will be brought to a close at the banquet and party at Green Bay Saturday night, Oct. 17, with members of the Bay chamber as hosts. Sunday the tourists will be guests of the Green Bay group at a Green Bay Packer football game.

MAN FRACTURES THUMB
George Coon, 62, 417 W. Winnebagos-st., fractured his left thumb Thursday morning when he became caught between two gears at the Thimbley Pulp and Paper company. He will be unable to work for five weeks.

MRS. HENRY J. BOSCH
Mrs. Henry J. Bosch, 65, a resident of Appleton for the past 41 years, died at her home, 1712 N. Richmond-st., at 6:30 Wednesday evening after a lingering illness. Mrs. Bosch, who before her marriage was Miss Adelaide Wensing, was born Sept. 30, 1866 in Westphalia, Germany, and came to America in 1888. Survivors are the widow and nine children, Clara, Joseph and Josephine at home, Mrs. Ray Bissing; Mrs. Louis F. Peters, Mrs. Otto Schlemm and Peter G. Appleton, Mrs. Hugh McKernan, Pasadena, Calif., and Paul J., of Kimberly; two sisters, Mrs. Gertrude Westerhoven, Hyde Park, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Anna Gwaltig, Duesseldorf, Germany; and 17 grandchildren. Mrs. Bosch was a member of the Third Order of St. Francis. The body was taken from the Wichmann Funeral home to the residence Thursday afternoon. The funeral will be held at 8:30 Saturday morning from the home, with services at 9 o'clock at St. Theresa church. A solemn requiem high mass will be conducted by the Rev. M. A. Hauch and burial will be in St. Joseph cemetery.

BIRTHS
A son was born Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Heller, 824 E. Minnesota-st., at St. Elizabeth hospital. The daughter was born Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Starks, 1519 W. Lawrence-st., at St. Elizabeth hospital.

DISCHARGE FIRECRACKER

power in Washington, which was so bitterly fought by Thomas Jefferson and which has been steadily growing during this century, would receive a new hold—and a strangle hold at that—upon the rights of the several states to control their own affairs. "Federal aid would also be a serious blow to the state of Wisconsin," he said. "When the federal government raises money, that money must come from the several states and as such would be called upon to support the people of the poorer states."

"If there is to be government aid to the unemployed, it must come from the states. That is the only real source of any adequate relief. And realizing that it has done nothing for the unemployed of this state, the LaFollette administration is trying to draw your attention from its do-nothing policy by claiming that the national government has not solved the depression."

Blanchard said he favored any movement which would tend to bring about shorter working hours and a shorter working week as means of preventing and curing business depressions. He also advocated building up public federal reserves to remedy the unemployment situation by extending programs of public works.

Senator Blanchard opened his primary campaign, seeking election to congress from the first district, with an attack against the dole system of unemployment relief and federal aid for unemployed.

He said a system of federal aid "would mean that centralization of power in the hands of a few men, and that it would mean the end of the state government."

Blanchard said he favored any movement which would tend to bring about shorter working hours and a shorter working week as means of preventing and curing business depressions. SCHOOL AFFAIRS SUPPORTED BY FINANCE PLAN

Three-year-old System Increases Interest of Students in Events

Under the three-year-old student finance plan, the activities of Appleton high school have not only become systematized, but student interest in them has increased. According to the first finance collection Tuesday at the high school, 934 students and teachers subscribed to activities finance plan.

Under the old system, campaigns were conducted for football games, basketball games, and publications subscriptions, which, according to Herbert H. Heblie, principal, involved a tremendous waste of energy as well as expense for printing, posters and other preliminary work to make each individual activity drive a success.

He also pointed out that under a systematized organization of finance, students attend more football games, more concerts and more students participate in the extra-curricular life of the school. The plan includes admission to all home football and basketball games, admission to other sports event such as track meets, cross country, tennis and hockey meets. It admits students to school debates, oratorical contests, declamatory events and the student lyceum programs given throughout the year. Under the plan the student receives a year's subscription to Talisman, weekly newspaper and the Clarion, annual student yearbook.

Where few students supported high school activities before the plan was adopted, more than 800 participated in nearly all school affairs under the finance system. Mr. Heblie pointed out that the student learns to budget this money through this system and the ceaseless plague of asking students for money throughout the year is alleviated.

The essential feature of the plan is that each subscribing student pays a small weekly fee for 36 weeks of school, for which he receives various tickets to school activities. The advantages of the system are that the student learns to save systematically and that more activities can be offered to the student at a smaller cost.

By comparing the cost of activities paid by students previous to the finance plan, it is estimated that the plan saves about $13 for every student.

ed through the home rooms in the same manner.

Class plays, musical performances, dances and class and club parties are not included in the activities finance plan because the price of seats for performances vary. Since many students do not dance and not all belong to clubs and organizations these activities are omitted in the plan. Locker deposits are not included either because locker deposits are returned to the student when he leaves school.

Other high schools in Wisconsin are using similar finance plans to regulate their school activities funds. Over 60 schools in 13 states have sent inquiries to Appleton high school concerning the plan as it is used in the high school here.

GREEN BAY STARTS DRIVE TO ORGANIZE SEWAGE DISTRICT

Letter from State Health Officer Points to Need for Immediate Action

An intensive drive is under way at Green Bay for the completion of petitions asking organization of a metropolitan sewage disposal district, which would include Green Bay and De Pere and the towns of Allouez and Preble. When the petitions are completed they will be put before the Brown-co court and the judge will be asked to take the necessary preliminary steps toward organization of the district.

The same sewage district plan is being considered by the cities, towns and villages of the Fox river valley between Neenah and Kaukauna.

700 Signatures
Already 700 signatures have been obtained at Green Bay and only about 200 more are needed to complete the petitions. Impetus was given the movement at Green Bay recently when the state board of health ordered Bay beach, a municipal bathing place on Green Bay, closed because it was grossly polluted by sewerage-laden water from the Fox and East rivers.

That the state board will not much longer tolerate the pollution of the river is indicated by a letter from Dr. G. A. Harper, state health officer. The letter follows:

"If it were not for the fact that the expenditures must be made in the very near future, there would possibly be less justification of immediate action on the part of officials and cities. In any period of economic stress, the expenditures of considerable sums of money is not looked upon in a cheerful manner," the letter states, but points out:

"There has been no time in recent years when such improvements could be made at a lower cost than the present time. In view of the fact that these improvements must be made in the very near future, the question arises whether it is now the time to develop such a program."

Furnish Employment
"Many cities which absolutely need these improvements are now confronted with the procedure of providing ways and means of furnishing employment to their citizens. If this is not done, there is a grave possibility that there must be furnished many of the necessities of life the coming fall and winter. It is far better that a spirit of citizenship be maintained by furnishing employment on improvements that are absolutely essential than to permit a large element of the population to become frequenters of the bread-line. Self-respect is a big factor in the eventual working out of the present period of depression."

"Realizing the dangers of public health and welfare created by discharge of raw sewage into the nearest water course, the question arises: How should municipalities proceed in solving their sewage disposal problems?"

The letter then discusses at some length the necessity of securing adequate preliminary surveys—this already has been done here with the report from the Donohue Engineering company—and the advantages of forming metropolitan sewer districts, as now proposed.

Definite Advantages
"There are often definite advantages to such a procedure from both the economic and public health points of view," it states, and goes on:

"The metropolitan sewer district plan has been proposed for taking care of the sewage treatment program in Green Bay, De Pere and vicinity."

"Engineering surveys have shown the feasibility and advantages of a single system for treatment and disposal of the sewage, thereby abating local nuisance and the pollution of the Fox and East rivers."

"It can be safely said that the situation was never so acute as at the present time. It is evidence, therefore, that only one procedure must be followed, and that is to provide the proper treatment for the municipal sewage."

NEW STUDENTS TO BE TOLD OF SCHOOL RULES

All seventh grade and new students at Roosevelt junior high school will meet in the assembly Friday to learn the rules of the school. A. G. Oosterhaus, principal, will discuss the importance of right and manly conduct to the new student body.

Piles Go Quick

No Salves—No Cutting

Thousands of sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and lasting relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Piles an internal medicine should be used to stimulate the circulation, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 980 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets from their own druggist with a rigid money back guarantee.

Dr. Leonhardt's prescription has a wonderful record of success right in this city and Schlitz Bros. invites every Pile sufferer to try a bottle of HEM-ROID and guarantees to refund the purchase price if they do not end Piles in any form. adv.

LICENSE BUTTONS NO LONGER NEEDED

New Regulation Eliminates System in Use for Hunters and Trappers

A new regulation effective this fall will no longer make it necessary for hunters and trappers to wear the license buttons which have been in use the last two years. Notice of the change has been forwarded to game wardens here by the state conservation commission and to John E. Hantschel, county clerk.

The ruling which eliminates the wearing of license buttons does not interfere with the tag system of marking game. Trappers will be required to tag their catches as formerly, it is explained.

No change has been made in the manner of issuing licenses. The permits are obtained at the office of the county clerk, upon application. Sturgeon tags, wardens here have been informed, will be issued direct from the office of the conservation commission, Madison.

GHOST SHIPS

Experimental work in remote control by radio is making progress in the navy. Only recently, on the Pacific coast, a destroyer equipped with the latest devices was put through its paces wholly under the control of a sister ship some distance away. The remarkable feat was performed of turning the vessel in a complete half-circle, something never before accomplished.

The result of these recent experiments is to be put to good use in disposing of the obsolete battleship Utah, once the navy's pride, and due to go out of service under the London naval treaty.

She will be equipped with all the facilities needed for operation by wireless. Under the manipulation of control devices from the bridge of another ship she will be made to turn and maneuver in all directions up to 180 degrees; to vary her speed; and even to throw out a smoke screen.

One of the most technical and vital problems of naval battle tactics is that of fire control by which all the destructive power of a battleship's guns may be coordinated on an elusive target miles away, and insure accuracy of fire.

Methods of fire control are deep secrets in all navies and it is only on rare occasions that class-room theories can be put to practical test. Sending the Utah to sea under wireless control will provide a target in simulation of actual battle conditions.

Even before the last war, steering torpedoes by wireless had been accomplished. In the popular mind there grew the assumption that it would revolutionize naval warfare, but for some reason little use was made of the wireless torpedo in actual combat.

Since that time it is apparent that notable improvements have been made in remote control. As to what it may presage for the future in naval strategy and tactics, the layman may only guess.

"Ghost ships" at sea and torpedoes with bloodhound characteristics will, in the next war, cause sailor boys to "watch their knutting."

A NEW BEHAVIOR CLINIC

A problem continually confronting a judge of a criminal court and one which must necessarily have weighty influence in directing his final decision as to the proper sentence to be imposed, is that involving the physical and mental hygiene of one adjudged guilty of crime.

A worthy advancement in social practice is noted in the establishment by Cook county, Illinois of the New Behavior Clinic of the Criminal Court. Its function is to provide a diagnostic and psychiatric service within the division of the Bureau of Public Welfare service which examines defendants referred to it by the presiding judge after conviction but before sentence.

Its director is a reputable professor of mental and nervous diseases of a well-known college, having been selected by the Chicago Institute of Medicine.

The procedure includes the examination of the individual by a physician, a psychologist, a social worker and a psychiatrist, out of which, coordinated through a case conference, comes a personality picture of the defendant and of the factors of his maladjustment.

On this examination is based a report and recommendation of the clinic to the judge for the disposition of the case by discharge, probation, sentence or commitment to an institution.

Such a clinic can be of inestimable service to the community in which it functions. This is especially true in larger centers of population where the dockets of the criminal courts are crowded, and where presiding judges do not have the time or the opportunity to investigate or take cognizance of conditions wholly outside the actual evidence in the case—conditions which are often of such importance as to warrant judicial consideration in passing judgment.

MYSTICISM

It is instructive to examine the revival in cheap supernaturalism in the United States in the last few years.

Astrology has taken a spurt, with practitioners collecting comfortable fees and books on the ancient "science" printed by reputable publishers. Perfectly serious books on palm-reading have also been issued lately, and have sold well. Numerology has gained many converts.

We may be the heirs of all the ages, as Tennyson said, but we seem to have a strong fondness for the pet superstitions of our ancestors. This fondness is especially apt to crop out when things are not going so well.

Most of it, probably, is due to the ordinary human being's inability to admit that he himself may be responsible for most of his troubles.

The man who has made a mess of life can get a good deal of comfort out of reflecting that it wasn't really his fault but was due to the movements of the stars or the destiny which the lines in his palm reveal. It is much better to blame one's troubles on the "mystic members" of the letters of one's name than on one's own folly.

So, the present being a difficult time, we have a great revival of interest in the superstitions of the old days. We are assured that the World War began because such and such a planet was moving through such and such a "house" in the early summer of 1914; that the stock market collapsed because of some similar goings-on in the heavens, and that a famous criminal did the things he did because his name contained the wrong combination of vowels and consonants.

Insofar as this enables harrassed people to bear their troubles it is perfectly harmless. Unfortunately, however, that isn't its only effect. In an age when it is more than ever imperative for us to realize clearly the terrible consequences of human stupidity, greed, cruelty and folly, many people are persuading themselves that all of earth's troubles are dropped down from the skies.

We cause our own wars, crime waves and economic disasters, and there is no help for us if we don't make ourselves recognize the fact.

TWO EDITORIALS

In a recent issue of The Catholic Citizen appeared an editorial stating:

"Wealth sets the fashion. The poor follow the lead of the rich in the matter of entertainment and amusement. When the children of wealth are driving high-powered automobiles, patronizing clubs for fashionable loafing, and frequenting places of diversion, we cannot expect the young workman to be at lessons all the time. They want to be just as good as the rest of the world, and if dancing about in swallow-tail coats expresses their conception of felicity, the fact reflects as unfavorably upon wealth and alleged culture as it does upon the son of toil."

While on the same page appeared another article reading:

"The newspapers obtrude upon us the news of evil. They thrive upon the sensational. A thousand good people are leading exemplary lives. One bad man commits a crime. He gets the publicity. In the way of gossip the tendency is usually to center and dwell upon some private scandal. This does not give one a balanced view of the world we live in. It makes for misinformation and misleading judgments. We must consciously turn our minds away from these topics if we would be wise and happy."

They should of course be read together

PRICE FIXING AS PANACEA

Politicians of the great wide-open spaces appear to have put it to the campaign thunder on the eve of the Presidential campaign. Farm relief, so potent a formula in 1928, having proved disconcerting in practice, there has been a good deal of speculation as to the next prescription of farm-belt statesmanship.

North Dakota furnishes it, the state in which simple faith in the Government as a source of aid and comfort has flourished so exceptionally. Senator Gerald B. Nye, Republican, wants the Government "to take some positive step" in behalf of the agriculturists. Of course, the Federal Farm Board, with its half-billion-dollar activities, could hardly be called negative, but it is not of the revolutionary type demanded by the spirit of North Dakota statecraft. Sen. Nye believes that the Government should engage in a program of price-fixing. Not as a settled policy. There might be danger in that. But just for "two or three years" while we are getting our bearings and building up again.

Prices, Mr. Nye thinks, should be fixed by the Government on such products as cotton, wheat, dairy products, beef, potatoes, pork and wool. As yet he has gone into no details, suggesting that the matter be left to Congress. Nor does he direct any way of disposing of surpluses, which experience proves result from satisfactory price-fixing for any farm commodity. That, too, is a matter of detail, doubtless, the same detail that is giving so much trouble to the present Federal Farm Board.—Detroit News.

POOR OLD England, she's having as tough a time as any nation ever did in quite a while . . . she's doleful over the dole . . . hurricanes play havoc with some of her possessions . . . she's measuring the pound sterling in ounces . . . the king had to cut his own salary . . . and there's always Mahatma Gandhi and his demands and the troubles down in India . . . now the British navy comes along and gets sore about a wage cut . . . what kind of hats are the ladies wearing over there this year? . . .

They're putting cranks on street car windows which permit them to be raised or lowered like automobile windows. But when the day comes that a window in a railroad coach can be opened (or closed) without special aid from axes, crowbars and such things ordinarily used in the best murder cases, that, Tullie, will be something.

"Well," we say nobly to the boss the other day, "we'll come back and do that work tonight."

"Fine," says the boss, "that's the spirit I like to see."

Which was just exactly what he didn't want the boss to say.

Saw a picture of a reconstructed doo. There once was such a bird, ladies and gentlemen. And it looks like something observed by a boozewrangler with the heebie jeebies or loggins on the bogies or something.

If anyone tells you that goats don't eat queer things, show 'em this list. Ladies and gentlemen, the comics are right. Here's the diet of one goat for one week down in North Carolina:

- 1 Automobile seat
- 1 Hollyhock row
- 1 Pair of pajamas
- 2 Day's mail
- 17 Hens' nests
- 1 Prayer book
- 3 Rows of assorted flowers

Maybe the fair thing to do would be to tell Mahatma Gandhi about it. The Mahatma lives mostly on goat's milk.

Read a good gag which we are going to show to Amalgamated Gadgets in the hope that A. G.'s will get embarrassed enough to do something. It's about the broker whose small son asked him for a toy railroad.

"Just wait until Christmas, sonny," said the broker, "and if stocks keep on going the way they are, I'll buy you a real railroad!"

THE SULLEN MOUNTAIN

He built a mountain of his loss
Which he could never see across.
His lofty pinnacles of woe,
Was crested with perpetual snow.
Gray rock and gaunt sides sparsely clad Told grimly of the grief he'd had Where'er he turned from day to day
The sullen mountain blocked his way.
Stranger and neighbor he'd accost
With, "Stand and see how much I've lost!"
Then came an old man gray and wise
Who on the mountain cast his eyes.
"Friend," he exclaimed, "you should be glad
So many blessings to have had!
"You've built a mountain, towering tall,
Of joys I've never known at all!"

Personal Health Talks

Noted Physician and Author

WHAT HAS DIET TO DO WITH GALLSTONES?

Certain foods which contain considerable cholesterol should be excluded from the diet of an individual who has inflammation of the gall-sac, whether gall-stones are known to be present or not. Most gall-stones are composed of successive layers of cholesterol deposited from the bile, together with bile pigment and more or less calcium. The chief foods which contain cholesterol are yolk of egg, cream, butter, liver, brains, all animal fats, peas, beans, wheat, olive oil.

But what is a poor victim of chole-cystitis (gall-sac inflammation) to eat if not these very things we so nonchalantly delete? Well, there are still popcorn, peanuts, candy and spunch—what more could one want?

But wait a minute. It is somewhat complicated. Drs. Krause and Whitaker observed experimentally that the gall-sac (I use this term because the term gall-bladder confuses the lay reader) contracts and empties itself in response to the taking of any fat or oil or greasy food, but it does not contract in response to carbohydrate food (starch) or sugar.

Not in response to proteid food (lean meat, white of egg, cheese). They also found that the odor or sight of savory food when the subject is actually hungry fails to cause any contraction of the gall-sac. From these studies, made on animals, the investigators concluded that perhaps the excruciating pain accompanying gall-sac contractions may be allayed or prevented in cases of gallstones by avoiding fats, and keeping the diet confined to proteins, sugars and starchy foods. On the other hand, the investigators suggest that in cases of gall-sac trouble where drainage is desirable, liberal use of these fats in the diet may be advisable.

How about it, folks—do you like lots of cream and butter and lard and ham and breast of chicken, and do these things like you? If you have gall-sac trouble, does your gall-sac neck ache? If it does, have some more gray and do help yourself to the beans.

Candidly, if I had something wrong with my gall I don't think I'd bother much about my diet. If I found that fats hurt me, I'd try to do without the more painful items. On the other hand, if I found I could get away with a tolerable amount of fried eggs, corned ham, Virginia sausage, I'd consume my share of these Americans. As for the cholesterol-containing items, I'd endeavor to go easy on them, though there is plenty of cholesterol in the body anyway, that is, in the healthy body, and so I think the attempt to eschew such food is of questionable efficacy—it is a good enough principle in theory, but it has yet to be proved efficacious in practice.

We must not lose sight of the important thing we do know about the formation of gallstones—namely, that the usual fore-runner or beginning of the trouble is some kind of bacterial infection of the gall-sac.

In my judgment the four things most needed by one with gall-sac trouble with or without stones are (1) less food, (2) more fresh fruits and raw vegetables, (3) more exercise, and (4) more belly breathing.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Buy a Bushel of Wheat

I saw your recommendation of plain seed wheat as it comes from the threshing, as an ideal breakfast food. For three months I have been eating it, and find it very tasty. Also it supplies sufficient roughage to make the use of flaxseed (another Brady idea) unnecessary. I've passed the word to several friends who have the phlegm habit and they are getting good results too. (W. V. M.)

Answer—Thank you. Now if every family were to purchase a bushel of plain wheat, either directly from the farmer who grows it or from the mill or feed store or seed store, it would help the depression considerably, besides improving general health. Trouble is so many people are so dumb they imagine wheat as nature produces it is not quite fit for man to eat—they like to think the manufacturer adds something essential to it in his factory. The manufacturer robs the wheat of some of its health giving virtues and so gives the nostrum makers and the quacks a fine break.

No Takers

What have you to offer in written matter regarding nervous condition? (J. A. P.)

Answer—Only sympathy.

Barefoot Child

What harm is there in a child going barefoot? Can a child catch any disease in that way? (Mrs. M. M.)

Answer—Every child should be allowed to go barefoot as much as possible, for the benefit of the feet as well as the general health. Down south a child or an adult may contract hookworm disease by going barefoot in primitive places where the ground is polluted with human excrement. Anywhere in a gymnasium, swimming pool or on any floor where other people go barefoot, a child may contract ringworm, foot itch, athlete's foot.

Caught Napping

Even if exposure to cold or dampness can not cause any form of "crr" may it not cause congestion? (Mrs. F. G. E.)

Answer—I suppose it may cause congestion in a case where the individual is already ill or very feeble, but not in a fairly healthy person.

Tin Doctors at Odds

Some high school girls in our camp have biology teacher who condemn iodine for fast and disinfestation of wounds and highly recommends mercurochrome which she declares all hospitals use. . . (G. J. F.)

Answer—I'd prefer iodine for my cuts or minor wounds, tho it is true I don't smart more than mercurochrome does.

The Tynymites

By Hal Cochran

UP, up the mountain side they went. The dangling cable dipped and bent but everything was quite all right. "Was strong as it could be." The Tynymites clung to the car and Coppy said, "How high we are! I guess I must be pretty brave. It doesn't frighten me."

And then the small car straightened out. The Travel Man jumped up to shout. "Here's where we rest a little while and gaze out in the air. We've reached the mountain top and we have lots of time to look and see the wide surrounding country. You will find the scenery rare."

The Tynymites found that he was right. The view was quite a marvelous sight. In 'bout a half hour they all piled back into the car. "Then down they went, just like a race and shortly reached the starting place. "The trip back," said wee Clowry, "didn't seem like half as far."

The Travel Man said, "Follow me. To Rio de Janeiro we are going to go in a small cab. We'll be there very quick. The city is a beauty spot and you will find there are a lot of dandy eating places. I will let you take your pick."

They rode right into town and then began to look around again for food, 'cause they were hungry. "Don't they smell an outdoor place?" said Scouty. "That's a clever stunt. They have the tables out in front." And to one of the tables all the bunch began to race.

The meal was great. When they were through, the Travel Man said, "I'll take you right down the street

A Bystander In Washington

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—They tried hard to make a "mystery man" of that affable and philosophical gentleman one sees from time to time around the executive offices of the White House.

"They" is that group so often referred to as "political Washington." But Jim Burke—James Francis Burke is the name—steadily has withstood all attempts to surround him with an air of political mystery.

He has let it be known from the start that he is no Colonel House or Frank Stearns—those famed "men of mystery" of the Wilson and Coolidge administrations. Furthermore he resents any such implication.

Any one anxious to know his status around the White House has only to ask him personally. He will quickly and emphatically answer that he is a personal friend and close adviser of President Hoover.

And that's all.

Political Dabbler

Burke has no title and no official connection with the government. He is a lawyer, who for 40 years or more has been interested in politics. Ten of these years were spent as a member of the house, but he quit because he was tired of holding public office.

Outside of occasional games of golf, politics is about his only form of recreation.

He dabbles in politics because he loves it. He gets a tremendous kick out of conferring with politicians, maintaining intimate contact with the president, and discharging this and that task.

Republicans from all sections of the country know him, call him "Jim," talk intimately with him about party affairs.

He works quietly, and unless you should be on the lookout for him, probably you would be unaware of his presence.

The nearest thing to an official title he has is general counsel of the republican national committee. He has been that for several years.

He divides his time between Washington and Pittsburgh—attempts to keep on regular hours at either place.

No Reward Seeker

Financially independent, his friends here say that he hopes for no reward, that he told Mr. Hoover at the outset there was no post at home abroad that he sought or would accept.

Ten years in the house from 1906 to 1915, during which time he rose to the place of republican whip under Speaker "Uncle Joe" Cannon was enough. He still remembers those days and is fond of comparing congress then as he sees it today.

"We might not have done as much work or worked even as hard as legislators of today," he says, "but the country conceded us a respect that it does not give congress now."

Today's Anniversary

FIGHTING AT LENS

On Sept. 17, 1917, Sir Philip Gibbs wrote an account of the fighting and bombardment of Lens in which Canadian and English troops faced the enemy.

"Lens is a town of battered houses without roofs and with broken walls leaning against rubbish heaps of brickwork and timber. The enemy sent out a wireless message that the English gunners were destroying French property by bombing the city, and then made a deep belt of destruction by blowing up long blocks of streets."

"After that the British guns completed the ruin, for there was a German garrison in every house and in this kind of warfare there must be no tenderness of sentiment about bricks and mortar if the enemy is and soon we'll see a brush man. 'Twill be sport. And, sure enough, they spotted an outdoor place. Said Scouty, "That's a clever stunt. They have the tables out in front." And to one of the tables all the bunch began to race.

The meal was great. When they were through, the Travel Man said, "I'll take you right down the street

Seen And Heard In New York

BY WILLIAM GAINES

New York — Broadway hasn't forgotten Alf T. Wilton, but it doesn't know him as well as it used to.

For 25 years he had his offices on the street. For 20 years he was a leading artists' representative for the old Keith-Albee and Orpheum circuit, and some of those he sponsored were:

Margaret Anglin, Ted Lewis, Frances Starr, Charles Ruggles, Mme. Johanna Gadsby, Lou Tellegen, the Duncan sisters, Victor Moore, Percy Grainger (the pianist), Willard Mack and Marjorie Rambeau, Nina Morgana, Gallagher and Shean, the Watson sisters, Carmela Ponselle, Nellie and Sarah Kouns, Mrs. Thomas Whiffin, Holbrook Blin and David Bispham.

For 15 years he personally represented Marie Dressler. The recent death, in Bayonne, France, of Mrs. Richard Harding Davis, widow of the celebrated war correspondent and novelist, inspired a communication from Wilton.

"Come out to my Manhattan beach place," he said. "I've got interesting things to tell you." Now one has to go through the wilds of Brooklyn to get to Manhattan beach, but who wouldn't to give a man with such memories a curtain call?

Yama Yama Girl

"By closing my New York offices and moving my business out here to my residence I was not only able to combine it with my pleasure, but I saved $15,000 yearly," Wilton began very seriously.

"But I want to tell you about Mrs. Davis. She was, you'll remember, Bessie McCoy, the famous Yama Yama girl of 'The Three Twins'."

"People quickly forget the glamorous ones of the stage. I don't think many recalled, at the time of her death, that her name once was McCoy—Elizabeth McCoy."

"Well, I put her on the stage, her first chance, on an amateur night program, and she won the $25 first prize. I would imagine she was 5 to 8 years old then."

"That was a long time ago, when I was a young fellow. I was the lessee and manager of Smyth's Opera House, in Manchester, N. H. I played the best acts in vaudeville in those days; among others the team professionally known as Billie McCoy and Minnie McEvoy."

Little Nell, Too

"If my memory serves me right, Minnie McEvoy was then divorced from her husband, Lawrence McEvoy, the father of Nellie and Elizabeth McEvoy. Little Nell, even then, was known as McCoy and was on that bill."

Many red heads too came to me and said, 'Mr. Wilton, I would like to go on Friday night, with the amateurs.'"

"I gave her the chance and was able to see her possibilities. For a youngster she was a clever dancer."

A bit later Elizabeth, became Bessie, and Nellie became the McCoy sisters. The public's memory and the obituaries supply the rest of Bessie's story.

CONSIDER REIS PLAN OF RELIEF FOR UNEMPLOYED

National Legion Meet Ponders Proposals Made by Wisconsin Man

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Washington Corrs.
Washington—Proposals for unemployment prevention and relief, put forward by Alvin C. Reis, Gov. Philip F. LaFollette's representative at the American Legion unemployment conference here, are now before the national employment commission of the Legion for consideration before the convention of the Legion in Detroit.

Reis, the American Federation of Labor with its proposal for legalizing beer as a means of putting men to work, and the Ohio representative, John A. Elden of Cleveland, figuratively threw the only bomb exploded at the conference. The rest was routine.

The conference was in the nature of a hearing held by the unemployment commission so it could have the views of the different states before planning a program to be presented to the Detroit convention for the Legion's contribution to handling the unemployment problem.

"You have come to expect something radical from Wisconsin, and here it is," Major Reis said in introducing his proposals for which he sought endorsement by the American Legion.

Makes Demand
Reis went Elden, representative of Ohio's governor, one better by demanding a 4-hour day and a 4-day week to offset the replacing of men by machines whereas Elden asked only a 5-day week such as federal employees are now asking and as the American Federation of Labor has suggested.

The program proposed by Reis, for the American Legion to support and for federal, state, and local agencies to carry out, has eight points as follows:

1. Passage of the Wagner bill, vetoed last spring by President Hoover, providing federal aid for state employment services. Reis said that Wisconsin does not want more federal agents. "We have too many now," as provided in the Hoover substitute for the Wagner plan, but wants to run its own employment service with federal aid, if necessary. Roy Empey of Green Bay was appointed Wisconsin director of the federal employment service.

2. A permanent national reforestation program, such as was advocated by Col. Arthur Woods, one-time chairman of the now defunct

TOONERVILLE FOLKS

MICKEY (HIMSELF) MCGUIRE

(©Fountain Fox, 1931)

President's Emergency Committee for Employment.

3. A $10,000,000,000 program of public works, suggesting issuance of bonds for this amount to finance needed public works and to be amortized in 10 years. He said a larger federal debt than this had been retired by the federal government in the last decade.

4. Raising, by the states, of the age limit for child labor.

5. Lowering the age-limit under the state old-age pension laws, a Wisconsin means to put into effect, Reis said.

6. Local improvements.

7. Soldier compensation fund for the relief of unemployed veterans.

8. Rehabilitation of veterans, citing the Wisconsin plan of paying unemployed veterans $30 a month on condition that they go to schools to study vocations.

In suggesting more local public works, Reis defended the Wisconsin tax system, saying it is not burdensome, and called attention to the town of Spooner, which, he says, finance all its municipal expenses out of the profits of its publicly-owned electric light plant, without levying any municipal taxes.

Reis had started off his speech with an attack on "the bourbon attitude" of the federal Department of Labor. This followed a speech by John R. Alpine, director of the federal employment service, in which an optimistic picture of lots of jobs was painted. Alpine had boasted that he had that morning, in one hour, got jobs for two American Legion men. Howard P. Savage of Illinois, chairman of the Legion's national employment commission, told Alpine that he could give him the names of 750,000 other ex-service men who want jobs.

DON'T PUT ADVERTISING MATTER IN MAIL BOXES

Attention is being called by Postmaster Emery H. Grounke to advertisers who are violating postal laws by placing advertising matter in rural mail boxes. The postmaster points out that it is against the law to place this matter in the mail boxes unless it has been stamped and addressed and sent through the regular mail channels. These boxes are erected exclusively for the reception of mail matter, he said, and all mailable matter placed in such boxes are subject to the conditions prescribed for mail matter. When such matter is placed in mail boxes, the postmaster said, the mail carriers have instructions to bring it to the post office and the senders will then be notified of the amount of postage required and they will be requested to furnish the same.

TELESCOPE DEPENDS UPON TWO OBJECTS FOR ALL ITS POWER

Object-glass and Eyepiece
Most Familiar Parts of Magnifiers

The magnifying power of a telescope is dependent on two important objects. The first of these is the familiar object-glass and the second is the all-important eyepiece. The object-glass gains in power according to its size, but the eyepiece, on the other hand, has a greater magnifying power when it is small. The smaller it is the greater its magnifying power, although there are serious difficulties in controlling the size of the eyepiece.

Most astronomical observatories are equipped with a number of eyepieces to fit each telescope. These eyepieces vary in size and in magnifying power and they are used according to the needs of the circumstances.

The chief difficulty in using an eyepiece with a high magnifying power with a small telescope is that usually the result is highly unsatisfactory from the point of view of clearness. An instrument equipped with a powerful eyepiece and an object-glass only six or eight inches in diameter will show the heavenly object in whose direction it is focused as dim and indistinct.

It is this lack of clarity which restrains astronomers from using the fullest powers of magnification of the eyepiece. Theoretically, according to the geometric principle, it is possible to get any magnifying power desired on any telescope, however, small the object-glass of the telescope may be. It is explained that by using an ordinary microscope found commonly in the offices of doctors with a four-inch telescope, it is possible to multiply the power of magnification of the telescope by eight or ten times. Lack of clarity and insufficient light are the practical difficulties which stand in the way of such practice.

Bad atmospheric conditions is another problem with which telescope gazers must contend. The earth is surrounded by a blanket of air hundreds of miles high which is constantly in motion. All the light with the aid of which we see far distant stars, suns and spiral nebulae must pass through this atmosphere. If air conditions are unsatisfactory, the distant object in the sky will appear blurred and softened in outline. This is mainly because the light rays, subjected to the motion of the earth's atmosphere, become irregular. This irregularity tends to make the object seen in the telescope appear wavy and indistinct.

Magnifies Flaws
The telescope in magnifying the object also magnifies the irregularities and indistinctness with which it is connected in the vision of the astronomer. A large telescope is especially defective in this respect, due to the great difficulty of bringing all the light to absolutely the same focus in the larger instruments.

The less motion and greater clearness in the atmosphere the better are the conditions for the use of large telescopes. That is why before any observatory is located astronomers are anxious to find the best suitable situation where they may count on having dry, clear air with a minimum of clouds and atmospheric disturbances during the greater part of the year.

New York City, in this respect, is badly suited for an observatory. The Southwest and California offer among the best sites to be found in this country. The Lowell Observatory at Flagstaff, Ariz., and the Mount Wilson Observatory at Pasadena, Calif., enjoy good atmospheric conditions and some of the best work in the science of astronomical observation has been done there. The new South African station of the Harvard College Observatory is said to have one of the best locations on this globe.

In 1930 there were 1,000,000 tractors at work on farms of the United States.

Gunfire, almost inaudible at close range, may be heard many miles away.

See how grease goes!

... even pots and pans soak spotless

If you want to see dishes wash themselves—try Rinso! Its creamy suds loosen grease in a flash. Even the stickiest dishes soak clean without help. A hot rinse—and your dishes dry bright and clear without wiping.

Wash greasy pots and pans this easy way. See how they shine! A little Rinso gives a lot of rich suds—twice as much, cup for cup, as lightweight, puffed-up soaps. Nothing else needed, even in hardest water.

Millions use Rinso on washday for whiter clothes without scrubbing or boiling. Wonderful for all cleaning; use it for floors, walls, woodwork, porcelain, tile. No grit. Get the BIG package of Rinso today.

Club Elects Dr. Frawley As President

DR. W. J. FRAWLEY was elected president of the Century club for the coming year at a meeting of the directors of the club Tuesday night. Morrow Herner was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Dr. Frawley succeeds Dr. E. F. Mielke as president.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wettengel, who were present members of the club and who did a great deal to put the organization on a sound basis, were made honorary members by a vote of the directors. It was decided to hold four parties during the season, the first of which will be a dinner dance at Riverview Country club the latter part of October. Directors will be in charge of arrangements. They are Carleton Saecker, Gerald Galpin, Henry Boon, H. D. Purdy, Dr. Frawley, Dr. Mielke, and Mr. Herner.

Mr. Boon and Mr. Saecker, directors who have served the club two years, are retiring this year and will be replaced by two new directors next spring.

The first meeting of the Wednesday club for this season was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. Frank on College avenue. Mrs. Neenan de C. Walker presented the program on New England in Fiction. The next meeting will be Sept. 20 at the home of Mrs. M. A. Wertheimer, Kaukauna, when Mrs. Shattuck will have charge of the program on New England Pathways.

The club has chosen a program of American literature for the year. The topics to be given at the meetings include such titles as "A Study in Contrasts," New York, the City; Pennsylvania Dutch; The Frontier; Romance of Pioneer Days; Native and Alien; Ourselves as Others See Us; The North American; The Southland; The Old Dominion; Early Settlers of the South; The American Vendetta; The Southern Highlander; Negro Psychology; and Creole Days.

The dialogue and action of "The King," a Greek tragedy by Sophocles will be the subject of the program at the meeting of Alpha Delta chapter at 2:30 Friday afternoon at the Woman's club. Prof. Arthur H. Weston, of Lawrence college, will give a supplementary lecture on the drama.

Mrs. Carl Neidholm will be the leader and a number of members of the chapter will take part in the program. Parts of the drama will be read and the dialogue and action will be studied.

A short business meeting will precede the program. The principal business will be election of a new president to succeed Mrs. Roy Hauert, who is forced to resign.

The Tuesday Study club opened its fall program with a picnic Wednesday at the cottage of Mrs. James Wood on Lake Winnebago. Hostesses were Mrs. John Goodrick, Mrs. H. E. Griffin, and Mrs. E. B. Peterson. Ninety members and four guests were present. The members gave reminiscences of the summer vacation as a part of the program. New officers of the club took charge.

The next meeting will be Sept. 22 at the home of Mrs. L. F. Bushey, 608 E. Pacific. Mrs. W. H. Eschner will present a travel talk on London.

Mrs. J. P. Frank was elected president of the Girl Scout Community Committee at a meeting of the group Thursday morning at Appleton Woman's club. Other officers are the Rev. L. D. Utts, vice president; Mrs. E. W. Conroy, treasurer; and Mrs. Dorothy Calnin, secretary.

Miss Calnin, camp director, gave a report on the camp at Onaway this summer, and plans for the coming Scout year were discussed.

The special research committee of the Appleton Woman's club on girls activities convened for discussion this morning at the club. Mrs. A. B. Fisher is chairman of the group, assisted by Mrs. A. F. Tuttle, Mrs. F. E. Wright, Miss Minnie Geenen and Mrs. T. E. Orblison.

Over the Teacups club will meet for a 1 o'clock luncheon Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Smith McLandress, 65 N. Bellaire-st. Assistant hostesses will be Mrs. W. H. Killen and Mrs. H. J. Ingold. A program will follow the luncheon.

SUBMITS REPORT ON MEETING OF EAGLE OFFICERS

Charles Schrimpf gave a report on the state officers' meeting which was held at Fond du Lac last Sunday at the meeting of the local society of Fraternal Order of Eagles Wednesday night at Eagle hall. The society accepted an invitation from the Fond du Lac society to attend a meeting in that city next Wednesday night. The meeting is to be known as a "turtle race" and will mark the beginning of the national membership drive which Eagle societies all over the country are putting on. There will be no meeting of the Appleton society next Wednesday night, as the Ladies' Auxiliary is meeting at that time. Anyone wishing to go to Fond du Lac may leave his name at the club so that transportation may be provided.

Arthur Daelke, president, gave a detailed written report of the state convention held recently. Andrew Schiltz, chairman of the children's picnic which took place a few weeks ago, made his final report. Forty-two members were present.

Ask Lodge To Meeting At Menasha

AN invitation was received by Deborah Rebekah lodge of Appleton at its meeting Wednesday night at Odd Fellow hall, from the Menasha lodge to attend an afternoon meeting at Menasha Sept. 26, the day of the district meeting of Odd Fellows. There will be entertainment during the afternoon and a 6:30 supper.

Plans were made for a 6:30 covered dish supper to be served at the next meeting of the lodge. Members of the degree staff will meet for practice Sept. 30.

A large delegation is expected to attend the district meeting of Rebekahs Sept. 23 at Green Bay.

A social meeting was held by Ladies Auxiliary of Eagles Wednesday afternoon at Eagle hall with eight tables of cards and dice in play. Prizes at schafkopf were won by Mrs. Katherine Hoffman, Mrs. Meta Huntz, and Mrs. Mabel Yelg, and at dice by Mrs. Estelle Schneider. Mrs. Anna Doerfler won the special prize.

There will be a business meeting at 7:30 next Wednesday night at Eagle hall, to be followed by a social hour.

Pythian Sisters will hold a picnic supper at 5:30 Saturday afternoon at Allota park. The committee in charge includes Mrs. L. M. Schindler, chairman; Mrs. Walter Gmeiner, Mrs. E. K. Nielsen, and Mrs. David Smith. The first business meeting of the lodge will be held next Monday night at Castle hall.

The Auxiliary to Spanish War Veterans will hold a social meet at 7:30 Friday night at the armory. Mrs. Edith Grunert will be chairman of the committee which includes Mrs. Minnie Bauer and Mrs. Augusta Giese.

Women's Catholic Order of Foresters bowling league has been organized and will open its season Thursday evening, Oct. 1 at the Eagle alleys. The league will bowl every Thursday evening thereafter.

Modern Woodmen of America will meet at 8 o'clock Friday night at Odd Fellow hall. Routine business will be transacted.

MISS DUMKE IS MARRIED HERE TO H. HAERTL

Miss Alma Dumke, daughter of Mrs. Ida Dumke, 817 W. Harris-st., and Harvey Haertl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Haertl, 415 Naymut-st., Menasha, were married at 7:30 Wednesday evening at Castle hall. The Rev. F. C. Reuter, pastor of First English Lutheran church, performed the ceremony. Miss Vera Shea was maid of honor and Arthur Dumke acted as best man. Other attendants were Miss Vernette Haertl and Walter Dumke. A wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's mother to about 60 guests, and in the evening a dance was held. A Menasha orchestra provided the music. After a wedding trip of two weeks in the west, Mr. and Mrs. Haertl will make their home in Appleton.

MACK, GOODLAND TO GO TO STATE MEET

Mike Mack, chairman of the Outagamie board, and Mayor John Goodland, Jr., Appleton, will attend a meeting of county board chairmen and mayors at Madison on Sept. 22 when the unemployment relief program for this winter will be discussed. The meeting was called by Governor Philip LaFollette at the state capital. It is expected that the various governmental heads will take steps to unify their efforts in meeting the existing emergency. This is to be attempted both as to plans for relief and plans for providing necessary public work for the unemployed.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS HERE FOR CONFERENCE

Two officials of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad were in Appleton Wednesday conferring with A. W. Lisco, Appleton agent, on railroad problems. They were Harry Held, Green Bay division freight and passenger agent, and A. W. Herwin, Green Bay division trainmaster.

As the present economic depression has deepened, agricultural economists from 13 midwestern states meeting here to consider the future of farming in the midwest and the best methods of disseminating information beneficial to farmers.

MISS HOLTAN, CITY NURSE, IS WED TO DENTIST

Miss Alice Holtan, city nurse, and Dr. J. C. Stillman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Stillman, 1615 N. Meade-st., were married in Chicago Saturday. Mrs. Stillman is the daughter of Mrs. Jeanette Holman of Stoughton. She has been connected with the city health department for the past year.

Mrs. Stillman received her training at the Augustana Training school in Chicago and graduated from the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association Public Health course in Milwaukee. Dr. Stillman is a graduate of the dental school at Marquette university. Dr. and Mrs. Stillman will make their home in Appleton.

Miss Mills Tells About Girl Groups

YOUTH organizations in the world and the spirit behind the young people's work was described by Miss Marianna Mills, in a lecture Wednesday evening at Appleton high school. Miss Mills, a guest of the Rev. Elizabeth Wilson, 815 E. Franklin-st., has been visiting Y. W. C. A. groups in Canada and parts of the United States since last May.

About 100 Girl Reserves from Appleton high school, Menasha-Menasha Y. W. C. A. representatives, Appleton Girl Scouts participated in the candle-light ceremony. Several members of Y. W. C. A. groups from Green Bay and Wausau attended the meeting. Miss Betty Elias, president of the local high school organization, presided.

Miss Mills expressed the growth of girls' movements in the various countries in the world as the most thrilling spirit in the world today. She discussed briefly the general trend of women toward freedom and stressed the importance of accepting the responsibility of work as well as the freedom which goes with it.

47 Movements Now

According to Miss Mills, there are 47 international movements sponsored by world youth today, some of which are primarily political, while others are cultural. She pointed out that in some countries the student vote in universities is carrying the country elections and shaping the life of these countries.

She described the group of Macdonald girls scattered in many countries under minority rule, banded together through an interest in their former country. As an example of cultural youth movements, Miss Mills talked of the song group in Germany which is striving to keep the old German music a living part of the country. These youth, she said, are keeping alive the famous German carols by organizing singing festivals throughout the country. Germany has more youth movements than any other country in the world. Miss Mills stated and about 200 magazines are published every week by the various young people's factions.

In discussing the history of the Y. W. C. A. girls' movement, Miss Mills pointed out that this is different from the rest in that the interest in young people sprang from the older group first.

Among the girls' movements in the world the largest are the Girl Reserve, the Canadian Girls in Training, the Girl Scouts and the Girl Citizens in Australia. The Y. W. C. A. has organizations under different names and with different purposes, since the tendency of groups today is to make the organization definitely a part of the country to which it belongs.

An informal reception in the high school corridor followed the meeting.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel dull and rank and the world looks puny, don't swallow a lot of mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly snappy and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your downcast feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes these good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and snappy." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, arising when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the box and label. Present a testimonial to Dr. H. C. Carter, 1111 N. W. Ave., St. Paul, Minn.

Church Body To Sponsor Movie Show

A decision to sponsor a benefit moving picture, "Alexander Hamilton," featuring George Arliss on Oct. 5, 6, and 7 at Warner Brothers Appleton theatre was made at the meeting of Mrs. William Farnum's circle of the Ladies' Aid Society of Memorial Presbyterian church Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. W. S. Mason, 202 N. Lave-st.

The tickets may be secured from Mrs. E. W. Shannon at the Shannon Office Supply company on E. College-ave or from any member of the Ladies' Aid society. Mrs. E. F. Mielke has been named general chairman of the event, and she will be assisted by a committee composed of heads of circles, Mrs. D. N. Nelson, Mrs. J. F. Foreman, and Mrs. Farnum, and the following representatives of the circles: Mrs. W. E. Robinson and Mrs. A. W. Miller. Mrs. Paul Boronow was assisted hostess.

Committees for the Christian Endeavor convention of the Green Bay district which will be held Sept. 25, 26, and 27 in Appleton, have been appointed. Miss Ruth Meyer is general chairman, and she will be assisted by William Blum, vice chairman. The registration committee includes the Misses Lorene Franz and Helen Everson, and the housing committee consists of the Misses Tillie Jahn, Mary Schenck, Margaret Meyer, Lorene Franz, Adeline Franke and Esther Schneider.

Those on the reception committee are Roland Kippenhahn, Clifford Selig, the Misses Adeline Van Caster, Meredith Bandy, Helen Meyer, and Norma Schmidt.

Appleton churches taking part in the convention are Memorial Presbyterian church, where the sessions will be held, Emanuel Evangelical church, First Reformed church, and St. John Evangelical church.

Meetings of Mrs. Frank Zschachner's circle of the Congregational church will be held the first Thursday of each month instead of the second. The next meeting will be a decision reached at the meeting of the circle Wednesday afternoon at the church. The meeting was in the form of a tea. Mrs. W. Cavert, who observed her birthday anniversary, surprised the members with a birthday cake. Twenty persons were present. Work for the year was outlined.

Hostesses for the next meeting are Mrs. Anna Briese and Mrs. Harry Furringer.

A report on the national encampment of Spanish War Veterans which was held recently at New Orleans, La., was given by William Zuelke and Louis Jeske, Appleton delegates, at the meeting of Charles O. Baer camp, Spanish War Veterans Tuesday night at the armory. Several bills were allowed and the committee in charge of the fish fry and outing last Sunday at Lake Poygan gave a report. Two members of the Waupaca camp, Abe Cohen and C. A. Zilisch, the latter formerly of Appleton, were guests at the meeting. Twenty-five persons were present.

Zion Lutheran Mission society of Zion Lutheran church was divided into five circles at the meeting of the society Wednesday afternoon in the assembly room of Zion parsonage. The newly appointed captains of these circles are Mrs. Alma Buesing, Mrs. Emma Mueller, Mrs. Anna Beyer, Mrs. Leona Merkle, and Mrs. Elizabeth Hoffman.

The Rev. Theodore Marth, pastor of the church, gave a reading on "Mexican Mission Work." Routine business was transacted.

Mrs. D. N. Nelson's circle of Memorial Presbyterian church met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. T. Viel, 514 N. Sampson-st. Sixteen persons were present. A business meeting was held and a social hour followed. Plans were discussed for a benefit moving picture which will be sponsored early in October. The next meeting will be the third Tuesday in October.

The Sodality of the Blessed Virgin of St. Mary church will receive Holy Communion at the 7:30 Mass Sunday morning. The business meeting of the sodality will take place the following Thursday night in St. Rita hall, when officers for the coming year will be elected.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL HAS 277 STUDENTS

Registrations at Appleton vocational school have mounted to 277 students since the opening of school on Sept. 8. There are 132 boys and 145 girls, a few less than a year ago. Eighteen per cent of the student body is composed of boys who are doing full time work five days a week. The remainder of students are taking part time work.

DINNER DANCE FRIDAY NIGHT AT RIVERVIEW

Riverview County club will hold a dinner dance Friday night at the club. Fall flowers, autumn leaves, and other fall effects will be used as decorations. Mr. and Mrs. Rodric Ott, Neenah, are in charge of the arrangements. There will be one more dinner dance at the club on Oct. 24.

PARTIES

Members of the water commission entertained Wednesday evening at a dinner at Conway hotel in honor of George Beckley, whose term on the commission ends Oct. 1. Mr. Beckley attended his last meeting yesterday afternoon.

Appreciation of Mr. Beckley's intense interest in water department affairs, and his splendid work with the commission were expressed by the four members of the group, J. Plank, A. C. Remley, William H. Timm and John H. Lappen. A gift was presented to Mr. Beckley, who has been on the commission since 1923.

Clarence O. Baetz, who succeeds Mr. Beckley, was elected by the common council two weeks ago.

Eighteen tables were in play at the card party sponsored by Group No. 10 of St. Therese church Wednesday night at the parish hall. Prizes at schafkopf were won by Anton Hecker, Henry East, Mrs. Frank Stark, and Mrs. M. Jacobs at bridge by Mrs. Amy Clemens and Mrs. Robert Ebben, at dice by Mrs. John Stoffel, and at plumpsack by Mrs. Wenzel Neugebauer. Mrs. James Brown and Mrs. Ivan Stone were in charge. An apron sale was held in connection with the card party.

Christian Mothers society of St. Mary church will hold a card party at 2:30 Friday afternoon at Columbia hall. Schafkopf and bridge will be played. Mrs. Josephine Bellin and Mrs. Charles Piette will be in charge.

RETURN FROM TRIP ABROAD

The Misses Josephine and Betty Jean Buchanan, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Buchanan, 1005 E. College-ave, returned to Appleton Tuesday after spending two months in Europe. They sailed June 13 on the "Volendam" of the Highland American line, with a party including three Vassar girls and an Italian chapter. The party spent a month touring in Italy and then went to Cannes on the Mediterranean for two weeks. The last two weeks were spent in Paris. They returned on the "Statendam" of the Highland American line.

Patience Is Needed For Slow Child

BY ANGELO PATRI

"Your son is subnormal. He will not profit much by attending school. Better teach him to do odd jobs about the house and let it go at that. Such slowness, as he shows, three years behind his group, is against his development in the usual way. He is just a subnormal boy."

"I know he is slow but somehow I don't believe that he is hopeless. He is intelligent."

"O yes, he is intelligent. But he cannot do school work."

"I'm going to keep on trying to teach him just the same."

"I'm afraid you will waste your time but of course that is as you desire. Good morning."

The mother and the slow boy went to another kind of school. The standard of scholarship was not traditionally high, there was room for lessons in subjects that were not demanded by college entrance examinations; there was room for odd children, whose rate of growth was uncommon, whose minds seemed to focus afar off; there was no time limit set on the accomplishment of a unit of work. A child worked as he could, not as someone said he should.

The slow boy poked along for a term or so, seemingly content, making slow progress but showing some desire to accomplish his tasks. He was not growing worse but even the eagle eyes of faith could see little to proclaim. Then one day the English teacher recited some poems, among them Sandburg's "Fog." The slow boy's face lighted as the evening skies when the sun illumines the drab horizon.

"Do you know the Rootabag stories? Do you know Dickinson's poem 'I'll tell you how the sun rose. A ribbon at a time. The steeples swam in anyhows. The new like squirrels ran.' Straight to the end—and led the flock away," the slow boy repeated the beautiful poem.

"Do you know many poems?" asked the teacher, hiding her excitement and joy.

"A good many. Here's one I think is pretty good," and he very deliberately turned his pockets inside out revealing a browned applecore, a gray handkerchief, some strings, several buttons a couple of nails, a whistle and crumpled sheet of paper. Deliberately, for this was a slow boy, he spread the crumpled sheet on his desk and smoothed it carefully. Then he read, "The curfew tolls the knell of parting day—"

"You can have this if you want it. I know it now and don't need the paper."

The smoldering fire had broken into flame and the slow boy stood revealed as a beauty loving, beauty expressing soul. All loving children are not like that but now and then

TWO FORMER STUDENTS AT COLLEGE WED

The marriage of two former Lawrence college students, Miss Ethel Patrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Patrick, Whitewater, and Luzern G. Livingston, Madison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Livingston, Randolph, took place at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Methodist Episcopal church, Whitewater, with the Rev. W. S. Conner reading the service. Miss Vivian Patrick attended her sister, and Fritz Stauffer, Madison, a graduate student at the university, was best man. Arthur and Harold Patrick, brothers of the bride, were ushers. The wedding march was played by Miss Amy Hay Bloedel, Waupun.

Following the ceremony, a dinner

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE
© 1929 by NEA Service, Inc.

UT when the holdup man named Blarney spoke, he asked a question.

"Did the dame spill the beans?" He hesitated. "No, she didn't. Couldn't have, or you would know who she is. Unless you've got her and this is a trick to make me talk. Stick people, these detectives, sometimes. Pull most any kind of a trick."

Jim Young interrupted. "Hold on a minute. This girl named Sue Merryman isn't the one, this fellow says, but he won't produce the right one. So how do we know that she isn't guilty? Maybe it's a blind to throw us off. She could pretend that she was Harry Becker's wife's sister. Didn't she hear me talking about them tonight? And keep still then? Let's hold on to her."

"Will you let me go if you can get the right person?" Sue asked. "With pleasure." The gallantry in Jim's words was ironic.

Blarney suddenly changed his mind. He spoke again and the shadows in the dark corners of the rough, bare room danced grotesquely.

"You can't get me for this. I was hired to do it. To pull off a stunt tonight by a woman who belonged in that house. It was her house and she had a right to have me come in and make a searching party of it if she wanted to, didn't she? That blue-eyed sister's out of it. The other dame was going to pay me for pulling off a little stunt. She can answer for it. And I'll tell her name. Sure I will. When did any of you society folks ever try to help me? I'll tell it, all right."

Alan Andrews' voice was very calm, almost deadly in its iciness as he answered. "Are you alluding to my wife?" "Your wife, is she?" The man named Blarney laughed. "From the number of times I've seen her with that old fellow there I'd have thought she had stood in front of a person and made a vow or two with him."

He indicated Alan's older brother, Thomas Andrews. "Thomas Andrews flushed slightly. Sue caught it. It only strengthened the impression that she had already formed of the man. He had tried to get her indicted, so he could make a generous gesture and pay her bail, not to help her, but in order to have a claim on her. He was a subtle worker. Underhanded, though. His own brother didn't know him very well."

"Bring Lots up, will you, Tom?" Alan Andrews appealed to his brother. "Certainly." He said it suavely. He would never be any way but suave, master of himself, even though he was caught in a hopeless web, Sue decided. His steps went down the stairs hollow, echoing steps. Not so springy now. Not so certain of where they were going.

Blarney had been handcuffed. He waited for the return of Thomas Andrews, with Lois and would not talk. Sue felt sorry for Alan Andrews. He looked so young, so upset. He was too nice to be Lois' husband, she decided. He was probably a year or two older than his wife, so far as actual years were concerned, but he was a century younger when it came to the ways of the world. He trusted life. Lois cheated it. He played fair. Lois designed, schemed, clutched.

Besides, a year or two was a matter of days with a woman like Lois. Her husband needed to be years and years older. Like Thomas Andrews.

The door swung open and Andrews appeared, breathing more heavily. "I can't find Lois," he gasped. "She's gone!"

NEXT: A search.

CRIME ONLY TENTH OF PAPER'S NEWS

Murray, Ky.—(AP)—Approximately 10 per cent of the news space was found devoted to crime, in 43 newspapers surveyed by the journalism department of Murray state college. The survey included papers of Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri and Illinois received at the college for one week.

In measuring a total of 127,266 column-inches, the students found that 56.88 per cent of the total space was devoted to advertising. The divisions and percentage in news space follow: crime 10.31; sports 11.88; economics 12.02; politics 6; social news 8.1; religious matter 2.8; educational material 14.08; catastrophe 2.11; features 21.51; and miscellaneous 11.18.

COLLEGE GIRL NEEDS PUREST OF COSMETICS

BY ALICIA HART
How about that beauty kit for college?
In the haste of selecting jaunty class room frocks, party gowns, fur coats and the rest of the school wardrobe there is danger of overlooking the importance of the school girl's supply of cosmetics.
Important it is. Because the time is past when young things of 'teen age can be told in stern and forbidding accents that powder, rouge and lip stick are not for them. On the other hand, it is important that the fresh, girlish complexion should be protected by the best and purest of cosmetics.

What should go into this kit for the college girl?
Beauty aids for the complexion that she needs and can use safely are the following: cold cream for cleansing; a pure, mild soap; milk skin tonic; face powder; rouge (chosen carefully as to shade); and lip-stick.

For her hair she will need either a soap or liquid shampoo and have setting lotion. For her hands she should have hand lotion to keep them soft and smooth; nail file; orange-wood sticks; liquid nail polish (the lightest shade) and polish remover.

To complete the assortment there should be tooth powder or paste, deodorant mouth wash, bath salts, dusting powder, plenty of soft squares of cotton to be used as powder puffs and discarded.

The girl for whom these cosmetics are selected should have a voice in choosing them and she should know the proper way to apply them. She should appreciate the immeasurable beauty of a fresh young skin and not mask it with harsh artificialities.

Here are a few cautions.
Don't paint the lips a different shape from the one they have naturally.
Choose powder a tone deeper or darker than your complexion and pat it on gently instead of rubbing it in.

A tiny bit of vaseline applied to the lashes and eyelids at night is better than any mascara or darkening substance.
Make it an invariable rule to cleanse the face thoroughly of make-up before retiring.

WE WOMEN

HELP FOR M. T. C.—RECONCILIATION MUST BE EFFECTED BY ERRANT SUITOR

A few words to M. T. C.
After reading your letter to Virginia Vane, I realized just what you are going through and thought perhaps I could cheer you a little. Just a year ago, the worst happened to me. The one I loved, sacrificed for, worked for, came to me and told me he loved someone else. I had spent long years working with him being with him constantly and the news was a bitter blow. I had to face it.

At present you say, M. T. C., that no girl can ever take the place of the one who has left you, but you are mistaken. I said the same thing about the man I loved, and suffered plenty. No one could tell me I would ever be happy again. I thought I knew better. But you will find that after all it is the best thing that this girl has been frank in telling you that she loves another, instead of just kidding you along and then leaving you flat in the end.

At first I could not believe that there was any justice in what happened to me, but today I give credit to the man I loved, for having been man enough to tell me the truth.

Be up—treat your ex-sweetheart as a good friend but don't over-do it. If she finds out she made a mistake and sees you no longer care, she may come back eagerly. What ever comes of this affair you must go on as usual, gradually getting over the hurt you feel.

My old friend is engaged now, but we are the best of friends, and he treats me better than he ever did before. Yet I can honestly say that I would not care to go back to the old relationship. I am through with it now for good and all.

Think this over and try to forget quickly. Don't ever say it CAN'T be done, for it can be done and I know it. In time you will see how foolish you were to be too tragic. Here's wishing you the best of luck.
M. M. K.

Young Man Owes Explanation
LASSIE M.: There's no question of writing notes of apology or explanation or anything else. Here's a case where you've certainly got to stand on your dignity and be quite firm about it. No pretty scenes of reconciliation are in order until the man in the case offers a very good reason for his singular behavior.

Lovers' quarrels can start over trifles, but there isn't any excuse for a man, definitely engaged to marry a girl who calmly ignores the fact that his wedding is set for a certain date, and who casually leaves town just about three days before the marriage.

The fact that he has since written several rather violent love letters, doesn't alter the complexion of the affair. This isn't a silly boyish offense. This is definitely a piece of rudeness and thoughtlessness which amounts to an unwarrantable insult.

There is no need of you to communicate with this rather unusual suitor of yours but your parents can and should. Just keep out of the picture for a while and let the man do the best he can to get out of his rather awkward position.
No matter what you said to him or he said to you on the occasion of your last meeting, the facts remain: You were engaged to be married, a date was set for your wedding, and it was sheer selfishness on the man's part to run away at the last moment in order to teach you a lesson. Let him make all the apologies and explanations. He owes them to everybody.

J. T. G.: Thank you for your long helpful letter. It will be forwarded on to S. A. Unfortunately the letter is too long to be printed in this column but it was nevertheless very much appreciated.

OTHER: I have communicated with the agent you mention with a view to giving you such help as I can. Good luck to you.

GULISTAN RUGS!

Don't wait another day! If you saw the Gulistan designs last year, or the year before—if you envy the transformation Gulistan works in every home—then don't miss our splendid exhibition of the new 1931 patterns!

You'll be amazed at their beauty, their sheen, their silky luxury! And you'll be delighted with their new low prices! Only a Rug Revolution could make possible such wonderful value! And only the largest maker of imported Orientals, Karagheusian, could produce such a rug as GULISTAN!

Every new 1931 design!—And what designs! They re-create masterpieces of Oriental rug design treasured today in European museums. The sensation of the season is the famous Ardebil pattern, woven for a mighty Shah 400 years ago, and the star piece in the great London exhibition of Persian art this Spring!

Every new color! You never knew rugs could be so rich, so thrilling, so unbelievably gorgeous! Colors are ivory, old gold, Persian blue, peach, and the popular new shade of rust!

Another Chip OFF THE OLD BLOCK

We've just hewed another fair sized chip off the old block that stands between the farmer and you. We mean the expense of bringing food from the men who grow it to the women who cook it.

Last year, after buying food in the best producing sections, it cost us $35.51 a ton to get it to you—an expense which, of course, went into the price you paid.

But this year, by dint of hard work, we've succeeded in chipping the old expense block down to $32.66—a saving to customers of almost $3 on every ton of food we sell.

This is a saving to American housewives of about $300,000 every week of the year.

By keeping the difference between what the farmer receives for food and what you pay for it as small as possible, we can sell food of the highest quality at very low prices.

Financial District Must Encourage Country, Expert Declares

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1931, By Post Pub. Co.
Wall Street, New York (CFA)—If one were able to coin a word that would be the reverse of "ballyhoo," he would hit off the present expression of Wall Street which, in the last two years, has gone rapidly from the hurrah stage to one of sobs.

The financial district of the country Wednesday reflected a rather pathetic state of mind on the part of a constituency that was so full of vim and vigor and proclaimed an endless period of prosperity two years ago this month. Lack of courage and initiative have replaced the cockiness and aggressiveness of the inflation period. Against the pessimism as to values that were to be reached for all sorts of common stocks, there is now a mood that accepts every incident and every presentation of statistics as proof that securities already depreciated by scores of billions of dollars are much too high. The meanest tout in Wall Street who places a baneful interpretation on a particular situation will have a larger audience than the wisest student of economics.

Rich Most Discouraged
The most confused and discouraged seem to be those possessing the greatest means and having the largest responsibilities. They have taken the cut in their fortunes and in their incomes extremely hard. It is among them that one hears most talk about communistic tendencies in the western world and a breakdown in the capitalistic system. Day after day the securities that the investing public has been led to believe were not entitled to confidence have been allowed to slip down without support, until the record shows large numbers selling at prices that have not been realized since the present generation of stock exchange brokers were in swaddling clothes. One great difficulty is that so large a part of the "ballyhoo" of 1928 and 1929 was perpetrated by juniors in Wall Street houses and in Wall Street banks with little training and less perspective of historical events in business and in finance. Having made money easily, they have not been able to stand the moral effect of losing it so quickly.

A message went over a private wire Wednesday from an interior house to the New York correspondent. It read "Send out an SOS." The reply was, "What is this in plain English?" This is not plain English, but it is a Wall Street SOS today appears to lack and which it will have to develop if it is to work itself successfully out of the mess in which it finds itself and to which it has been a prominent contributor.

Lack of Leadership
The lack of leadership in Wall Street is the subject of criticism that one hears on every side. Those who have been through other crises and who know that this one will pass and that prosperity will follow it, as it has done before, expresses the wish that there was some great aggressive banker like the senior J. P. Morgan to take hold of the situation and lead his banking associates out into the light. They also believe that if E. H. Harriman were alive today, this little giant, who compelled success in a railroad situation much worse than that of 1931, could at least make Wall Street see how foolish it was in selling the highest grade railroad stocks and the well-secured second grade railroad bonds at prices that suggest the omission of all dividends and general default of interest.

It is not too much to say that the recent period of speculation, and of consolidation that were frequently promoted for a speculative purpose, devitalized the energies of men who might have been expected in the present crisis to have developed qualities of leadership. The "new era" also created business jealousies that have been slow in evaporating but which have recently been tempered in the growing appreciation that it was the job of every Wall Street man to work for the common purpose of improving credit conditions. Unfortunately, Wall Street has a medium through the ticker of immediately communicating its mood to the rest of the country and to the world at large. Consequently, it has the greatest responsibility of any section in the United States in leading the American public away from the calamities which it imagines are ahead. Unless it takes this responsibility more seriously and exhibits more spine, it will be years before it can regain the prestige which it enjoyed prior to 1929.

Your Birthday
WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO YOU
"VIRGO"
If September 18th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., from 2 p. m. to 4:45 p. m., and from 8 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger hours are from 1 p. m. to 2:45 p. m., and from 6 p. m. to 8 p. m. The planetary conjunction of September 18th indicates an opportunity.

The Truth About Rheumatism
The truth is that within 24 hours after you start taking the efficient prescription called Allenru uric acid poison starts to leave your body.

Within 48 hours pain, agony, and distress are gone—you're happy again—and back on the job.

You're simply fooling yourself when you stick to makeshift pain deadeners and relievers—unless uric acid goes—rheumatism stays with you.

Allenru is positively guaranteed by Schinz Bros. Co. Voigt's Drug Store and druggists everywhere to do just as this notice states or money back—a generous bottle for 85 cents. Adv.

Capitol's Steps Wear Out

Worn out by the tread of sightseers, politicians and other visitors during the past 60 years, the stone steps on the west front of the national capitol at Washington, D. C., are being replaced and here you see a crew of men at work. Brick work supporting steps against the capitol terraces is also being rebuilt.

tunity for travel and advancement of business interests, although there is some danger of underhand dealing on the part of associates to be apprehended. A revival of old friendships is denoted; social activities promise success.

Children born on this September 18th will be studious, industrious and painstaking. As they develop, these early tendencies will be accentuated, and an exceptional degree of good fortune is assured them, unless, before making good, they get tied up in love entanglements, of which there is a strong tendency. You, if born on September 18th, have a peculiar temperament, and one that is difficult to comprehend or diagnose. Your methods are not frank and open. You work very much in secret, and are never happier than when engaged in some intrigue. There is nothing dishonest about your actions. What, however, another can obtain by above-board means, you only secure by secretive and baffling ways. You are always afraid to let your left hand know what your right hand does.

You are a fatalist, and no matter what happens, find consolation in the belief that it cannot be helped. You forget that, as Lucullus says, "we are our own Fates: our own acts are our doomsday." You crave power, not that which brings you notoriety, but that which enables you to "pull wires" in secret.

Your nature is not a very kindly one. You are inclined to be hard and cold and this militates against you, especially in social circles. Notwithstanding—or because of—the sternness of your character, you are loyal and sincere to those whom you favor. Your ambition is liable to become a tyrannical master, and make of you a megalomaniac. In the home you will never find real happiness unless you are "it"—with a capital I. You will never be willing to act as a partner; you must be the whole show.

RITCHIE OPENS ATTACK ON U. S. POWER ISSUE

Speech Believed Aimed at Gov. Roosevelt—Wants Wet Declaration

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1931 by Post Pub. Co.
Washington — (CFA) — Although Governor Ritchie may disclaim that his speech in Atlantic City was aimed at either Governor Roosevelt or Governor Pinchot, the fact remains that political leaders regarded it as the first open attack on the power issue by any political candidate.

Little doubt is left as to the meaning of the Maryland governor when he wonders "whether gentlemen who discourse so extravagantly and so passionately on the subject (the power issue) are not really laying down a barrage or smoke screen with which they hope to hide other issues—such for example, as prohibition—about which they might not think it politically wise to speak so boldly."

Mr. Pinchot doesn't hesitate to speak his mind on the prohibition issue but Mr. Roosevelt has had relatively little to say about it. Politicians therefore feel that Mr. Ritchie's remarks may be taken as a challenge to the New York governor to come out with a discussion of the prohibition issue.

Thus far Mr. Roosevelt has placed emphasis on the power issue and has won the sympathetic attention of men like Senator George Norris of Nebraska. The New York governor has never favored public ownership of public utilities by the federal government but he has outlined plans for state control of power, so that he has antagonized many of the private ownership school.

Favors Regulation
Mr. Ritchie's discussion of the subject reveals that he is not only opposed to the federal government and the state governments entering into the ownership of public utilities but that he favors, instead, rigid regulations by state utility commissions. The American Bar association at its convention in Atlantic City has had a special session devoted to public utility law and a report was brought in suggesting various courses that might be taken to regulate interstate transmission of power, looking largely, however, to joint action by the states.

There is no doubt that Governor Ritchie's speech signals the opposition that is going to come from various quarters from now on in an effort to beat the Roosevelt candidacy. If the logical position of the Democrats is to lean toward the wet side of the argument on prohibition because Mr. Hoover, the probable Republican nominee, will stand on a dry platform, then the Maryland governor feels that an unequivocal declaration on prohibition should be made by the Democratic party.

Up to now virtually all the men mentioned for the Democratic nomination, including Governor Roosevelt, have favored the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. But Mr. Roosevelt has been silent on the issue for several months, in fact ever since his last gubernatorial campaign.

Wants Outspoken Wet
What Mr. Ritchie wants the political world to understand is that if the Democratic party is planning to nominate a wet, it ought to consider someone who is thoroughly on that issue. Also, the Democrats, particularly those who manage the Democratic organizations in business element, Mr. Roosevelt's position on the power issue has alienated many of those groups and now Mr. Ritchie comes along to show the business world that there is one Democratic candidate who is thoroughly on the prohibition issue and at the same time does not favor radical programs with respect to business.

Mr. Ritchie's bid for business support in the Democratic party is likely to have the effect of restraining other candidates to do likewise. And it may put the New York governor on the defensive if he should be challenged, as no doubt Mr. Ritchie's week by the League of Wisconsin Municipalities.

ASK CITIES TO AID IN FIGHT ON RATES

A statewide investigation of the company, instituted by the Wisconsin Public Service commission at the request of the league, will adequately cover all details excepting the specific rate schedule for each municipality and the proper allocation of long distance revenues to the local exchanges, the telephone committee of the league determined here Thursday.

The same Chicago firm of telephone engineers selected by the commission for its investigation will be engaged by the league, effecting economies by its joint studies, F. N. MacMillan, league secretary, stated. Members of the committee which reached this decision included City Attorney Theodore Lewis, Madison; Mayor John V. Diener, Green Bay, chairman; Mayor W. J. Swoboda, Racine; Mayor J. W. Harkin, Shullsburg; Anton Jansen, village president, Little Chute; Councilman John Burns, Kenosha; Councilman M. M. Cohen, Green Bay; City Attorney John Niven, Milwaukee; City Attorney A. H. Gruhle, Sheboygan; and F. N. MacMillan, Shorewood Hills, league secretary.

JUNIOR NINE IS FETED BY LEGION POST

Youthful Baseball Stars Guests of Honor at Banquet

Kaukauna—George "Stormy" Kromer, sometimes known as the father of Fox River valley league baseball, was the principal speaker at a banquet given Wednesday evening in the hall in honor of the American legion junior baseball team. The team was sponsored by Kaukauna Post 41 American legion, under management of Fred Olm, athletic officer. Kromer is still remembered for his "take two" system which he still insists holds good.

He told the juniors of his work here in the Fox river valley league years ago and also of his later baseball life. Names of several major league stars were brought up. He explained the hazards every young player has to contend with and asked questions of each of the players.

Dale Andrews, post commander of the American legion, acted as toastmaster. John Lawe, who is celebrating his 94th birthday today, complimented the juniors on their success and said he hoped to see some future ball players developed from their team members. Fred Olm, who managed the team, thanked the players for their cooperation, and expressed the hope for another team next year. Captain Howard Radde also spoke. Les Smith of the Fox river valley league championship team complimented the juniors and gave suggestions. Marty Lamers, manager of the championship team, warned against over confidence.

The team personnel, which won the Fox river valley junior league championship, but lost out in district competition to Green Bay, is: Walsh, Bauer, Kemp, Vils, Van Drasek, Kuckelmeister, Radde, Grebe, McCormick, Judae, Wolf, Van Der Heiden, Bussie, Conlon, Block and Schuler. Of this team there are but five players left for next year. They are Schuler, Block, Judae, Van Der Heiden and Bauer. The players must be under 17 years of age to play.

HOLD LAST RITES FOR JACOB VAN DENSEN

Kaukauna—Funeral services for Jacob Van Densen, 90, who died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Smith, 205 W. Ninth-st., at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, were held at St. Mary's Catholic church at 3 o'clock Wednesday morning, with the Rev. Conrad Ripp in charge of the Requiem high mass. Burial was in St. Paul's cemetery, Wrightstown.

Bearers were six grandsons, John Van Densen, Walter Summers, and Clarence, Michael, William, and Joseph Smith.

Mr. Van Densen who was born in Holland, came to Greenleaf in 1888. He married Kaukauna about two years ago to live with his daughter. His wife preceded him in death. Survivors are one son, Michael of Wrightstown, and three daughters, Mrs. Arnold Smith of Kaukauna, Mrs. Ed Summers of Askeaton, and Mrs. Fred Windisch of Kaukauna.

KAUKAUNA "11" SHOWS WELL IN PRACTICE TILT

Kaukauna—Coach Paul E. Little was pleased with the showing of his football squad in a practice game with Kimberly high school at Kimberly Wednesday afternoon. The team showed flashes of championship caliber several times when backs broke through the line and ran the ends to score touchdowns. No score was kept because of the many replacements. Little using his entire squad. The Kimberly squad was unable to score against the "Laws," although during most of the game substitutes bore the brunt of the scrimmage.

HEAVY RAINFALL HALTS WORK ON NEW BRIDGE

Kaukauna—The heavy rainfall Wednesday morning halted construction work on the Lowest bridge. Concrete was poured until late Tuesday evening on the abutment on the canal bank. A runway was built over the city garage for trucks carrying concrete to the abutment. Most of the steel for the north half of the jack-knife span has been placed, and steel for the south half of the draw will be placed with the completion of the abutment.

PUSH IMPROVEMENT OF ROAD INTERSECTION

Kaukauna—Improvement of the corner at the intersection of Highways 55 and 41, and County Trunk J is well under way, all of the old concrete having been removed. Water mains were being repaired and new ones laid beneath the roadbed at the corner. The highways are detoured on Oviatt-st until the corner has been widened. The Ray McCarty Construction Co., is in charge of the work.

SCHOOL ACTIVITIES STARTED FOR YEAR

Two Classes Elect Officers—Magazine Drive Begins Next Week

Kaukauna—High school activities are well under way for the year. Two classes have elected their officers and the sophomore and freshmen classes will elect their officers either Friday or early next week.

Banking period was observed for the first time Tuesday morning with a 100 per cent record. The annual magazine campaign for funds to aid either the band or athletics will begin next Tuesday, and leaders will be selected by the students in their respective assemblies Friday noon. The school will be divided into two sections. Candidates for leadership of the drive are Robert Mayer, Ruth Luetke and Ross Farwell.

A cheerleader also will be elected Friday noon, according to Olin G. Dryer, principal of the high school. Four students are seeking the election, several candidates having been eliminated in a ballot cast under the direction of staff members of the school paper, the Kau-Hi News. The candidates are Leah Sager, former cheerleader; Howard Radde, also a former cheerleader; Mary Van Lieshout, and Doris Miller.

SOCIAL ITEMS

Kaukauna—Married women of Holy Cross congregation will hold a public card party in the church basement Thursday evening. Mrs. A. O'Connell is chairman of the committee in charge. A lunch will be served following cards.

St. Anne's court No. 226 Catholic Order of Foresters held a public card party Wednesday evening in Eagle's hall on Wisconsin-ave. Thirty-five tables were seated, and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Ed. King, Mrs. R. Van Ellis, and Mrs. Clifford Brandt in bridge, and in schafkopf to Mrs. Roman Pegen, Mrs. William Smith, and Mrs. Joseph Schlude.

Sacred Heart Court No. 556, Catholic Order of Foresters, St. Mary's congregation, met Wednesday evening in the Annex.

POLICE CHIEF CHECKS ON TRUANT STUDENTS

Kaukauna—R. H. McCarty is checking up on a number of children who are not attending school. A list of names has been given to the officer by the principals of the various schools. All children under the age of 18, who have not completed high school or who are not attending some school must attend the vocational school.

KAUKAUNA GIRL GETS DIPLOMA AS NURSE

Kaukauna—Miss Mildred Nelson will receive her diploma from Mount Sinai Hospital School of Nursing at the Milwaukee auditorium at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Nelson, her parents, and Miss G. Bay will attend the graduation exercises. A dinner dance was given at the Shorecrest hotel, Milwaukee, for the graduating class Wednesday evening.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

OPENING BIDS AND RESPONSES

The choice of a correct Opening bid is one of the most difficult faced by the novice at the Contract table. It might be said in passing that it is a question which frequently puzzles experts as well.

An Opening bid is a lead in the dark. It is a sort of skirmishing party or a cavalry foray sent out to test the strength of the opposing army or to establish communication with the allied forces across the table.

It is natural to use military terminology in discussing card games, for the essential structure of card games is based upon military organization and usage.

In response to many requests, I am giving herewith the requirements in the Approach Forcing System for various bids of one, two, three and more, as well as the responses by partner to such bids.

Minimum Requirements for Opening Suit Bids of One:

(a) in the suit—a biddable minimum and

(b) in the hand—at least 2-1/2 honor-tricks in two suits and when in the third or fourth position, at least 3 honor-tricks.

When two suit bids are available, prefer any biddable five-card suit to any four-card suit, but otherwise prefer the higher valued suit.

Minimum Requirements for Opening Notrump Bids of One:

At least 2-1/2 honor-tricks in three suits and when vulnerable at least 3 honor-tricks.

The Approach principle requires that when the Opening Hand contains a biddable suit and, at the same time, a biddable notrump, the suit, by it even a four-card minor and not the notrump, should always be bid first. It follows that any Opening one notrump denies a biddable suit.

Responses to Opening Suit One Bids:

1. Raise only if holding adequate trump support (at least Q 3 2 or four small).

2. Lack adequate trump support but holding a biddable trump suit Takeout with a new suit, providing the hand contains 1 to 2-1/2 honor-tricks. If the hand contains at least 3 honor-tricks and a biddable suit, make a Forcing Takeout—a bid higher than necessary but below a game level. Forcing Takeout signals game (sometimes Slam) and unconditionally requires both partners not to drop the bidding until some game bid is reached.

3. Lacking both the adequate trump support or a biddable suit, Takeout with one notrump—out 1-1/2 honor-tricks, two notrump (about 2-1/2 honor-tricks) and with three notrump (at least 3 honor-tricks).

When the Opening bid is no-trump, the same general procedure applies as regards suit Takeouts.

Minimum Requirements for Opening (Forcing) Suit Bids of Two:

5-1/2 honor-tricks in three suits if holding a minimum biddable trump suit.

5 honor-tricks in three suits if holding a good trump suit (a five- or six-card length with good tops).

4-1/2 in three suits if holding a great freak or a practically solid trump suit.

All Opening two-bids in any suit are Forcing (partner must respond or die) but Opening two notrump are not Forcing and show at least 5 honor-tricks with at least protection in all four suits.

Responses to Opening Suit Two-Bids (Assuming Both Opponents Pass):

1. Under no conditions is pass permissible until a game is reached—even with an absolute blank.

2. Respond, as a rule, with two notrump (the "bust" response) on any hand containing less than 1 honor-trick, even if holding adequate trump support.

3. Lacking adequate trump support or a biddable suit, respond with three notrump on 1-1/2 or better honor strength.

4. Raise once for each outside trick, provided the hand contains Q 3 2 or four small (adequate trump support) and at least 1 honor-trick.

5. Takeout with a biddable suit if hand contains 1 or more honor-tricks. With Raises and notrump show, if able, full values at once. With suit Takeouts, on the contrary, respond as low as possible, regardless of the strength of the hand until some game bid is reached.

OPENING THREE AND GAME BIDS IN A SUIT AND RESPONSES

Minimum Requirements for Opening Major Suit Bids of Three:

(a) A powerful trump suit which guarantees 5 sure trump tricks; and

(b) 8 playing-tricks in the hand, of which at least 1-1/2 are in side honors.

Responses:

Raise once if holding 1 trick and a "plus" (a Queen or a Knave or a singleton), trump support is not required. Opening minor three-bids are not profitable. Bid one or four or five.

Minimum Requirements for Opening Game Bids (Four in a Major, Five in a Minor):

If major suit

Vulnerable Not Vulnerable

8 playing-tricks 7 playing-tricks

If minor suit

Vulnerable Not Vulnerable

9 playing-tricks 8 playing-tricks

The trump suit guarantees 5 sure trump tricks, but the hand promises no outside honor strength.

TODAY'S POINTER

Notrump Valuation

For a trump bid, the winning of tricks with low cards depends largely on the number of honor-tricks held, which are the indispensable re-entries and stoppers. Therefore the count of honor-tricks alone in the hand will automatically include a proportionate amount of low-card tricks. The ratio of honor-tricks to low-card tricks is roughly 8:5. From this basic idea any player can logically work up a table of notrump bids. Raises and Takeouts.

CHESTNUT TREES ARE DISAPPEARING FAST

Blight Invasion is Culling Out Huge Areas in Appalachians

Asheville, N. C.—(P)—The village smithy has virtually disappeared, and the spreading chestnut tree also appears to be doomed. Great forests of the American species of chestnut in the Appalachian and Smoky Mountain sections are succumbing to the invasion of a chestnut blight.

As a result important commercial products, such as tannin extract used in the leather industry, nuts and timber will suffer in production. Government experts in forest pathology say there is no hope of eradicating the blight, at least with methods now known.

They do hope, however, to repair some of the damage by importing a blight-resisting species of chestnut tree from China and Japan which may take the place of the American chestnut, and which, perhaps may be crossed with the American species to produce a tree immune to the blight and at the same time somewhat similar to the American species.

The method being adopted is somewhat similar to fighting disease in the human body by vaccination, as the Asiatic chestnut trees have been inoculated against the blight by being subject to it over a long period.

LITTLE LESSONS IN LIGHTING...

How well lighted is your home? Make some of the tests suggested below, and see. Has every easy chair a good light? Are there lamps for the sofa? Can you see to write comfortably at night, to play cards, to read in bed, to play the piano, to comb your hair? You need lamps for all those activities... and we have them!

Every easy chair should have a lamp to complete its comfort. Whether it be a bridge floor-table lamp or a desk lamp is but a matter of choice!

Jumping the ace of your partner's little scheme—the bridge table is poorly lighted. A bridge lamp being adjustable is a well

A desk too, requires a lamp that provides an ample source of light. No good decoration overlooks the lamp by the side of the bed.

The vanity or the dressing table loses much of its value unless well placed and wisely chosen lamps are a part of the ensemble.

Commonly used groups with the proper lamps have been arranged on our floors. Come in and see them, and see the multitudes of effective lamps for every purpose. Priced from $2.89 to $50.00.

LEGION SCHEDULES MEETING TONIGHT

Post to Entertain at Social for Auxiliaries at Legion Hall

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—This evening at Legion hall the Norris Spencer post of the American Legion, the auxiliary and all friends who assisted in the success of the recent homecoming will meet for a social. George Feurst, a member of the Legion, will arrange for the music for dancing.

David Egan and Dr. M. A. Borchardt have been appointed by the Legion commander, Rudolph Ploetz, to select a committee representing the Legion to meet with other service organizations and the city council to discuss the winter's relief program.

Legion meetings will hereafter be held the second and fourth Monday evenings instead of Tuesday evenings. The change was made in compliance with the wishes of the majority of Legionnaires. Members of the Legion scout troop, formerly meeting at the hall on Monday evening, will have their time set for another evening.

Letters of appreciation to the Auxiliary for providing meals to the members and members of the band during the homecoming will be forwarded. Letters of congratulation also have been sent to Mrs. Ruth Manske and Dr. M. A. Borchardt for their representation at the LaCrosse convention, at which they were elected to offices. Dr. Borchardt named one of the four state vice presidents.

CHURCH MEN'S CLUB TO SPONSOR CAGE SQUAD

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—The Men's club of the Emanuel Lutheran church intends to sponsor a basketball team. It is not known who will comprise the team, but there is sufficient material on hand for organization of an excellent team, it is said.

A softball game between New London's champions and the champions of Stevens Point is being considered for Sunday when the city Bull Dogs meet Fond du Lac in the first football game of the season played here. Officials of the softball organization are dickering with the Stevens Point team. If the game is scheduled, it would be played off before the football game.

STREET EMPLOYEES CLEAN CATCH BASINS

New London—Mopping hot browns in a depressingly hot temperature, Albert Gesse and his crew cleaned out catch basins and gullies between Deconave and Spring on Dorset all day Wednesday. This would seem at first sight to be just one of the street commissioners' jobs at any time following a rain, if the job ever remained done. The decline in one of the most exasperating in the city. Every hard rain washes soil downhill, and since the streets are of gravel surfacing it always suffers. Winter time brings its grief too, it is said.

All Wednesday was required to clean out the drains to allow the pools of water to escape. A team drew gravel and regarded the gullies. And at 6 o'clock came another and much more severe rainstorm.

Mrs. Herman Husman entertained at three tables of bridge on Monday evening for Miss Gladys Jensen of Superior. Miss Jensen was a former high school teacher here. MANAWA, IOLA PASTORS SENT TO NEW PARISHES

Special to Post-Crescent

Royalton — With the recent appointments made by the Methodist conference the Rev. S. B. Lewis of Iola and the Rev. F. W. Wright of Manawa go to new charges out of Waupaca-co. Rev. Lewis to Sharon and Rev. Wright to Montello and Pardsville; by their removal the Waupaca-co Christian Education association loses two of its officers.

Rev. Lewis was superintendent of the adult department and Rev. Wright administrative superintendent.

PASTOR, WIFE ARE HONORED AT PARTY

Rev. Lorenz Knutzen Returns to Seymour, Black Creek for Eighth Year

Special to Post-Crescent

Seymour — A brass band playing "Hail, Hail the Gang's All Here," brought Rev. and Mrs. Lorenz Knutzen to the parsonage porch Tuesday evening. They were escorted to the church where they found the social rooms crowded with parishioners from Seymour and Black Creek. At a session of the Wisconsin conference of the Methodist Episcopal church which closed in Appleton Sunday evening, Rev. Knutzen was reappointed pastor of the Seymour and Black Creek churches for the eighth successive year and the members and friends of both Methodist churches arranged this "welcome" party.

Frank Beckman, chairman of the board of trustees acted as master of ceremonies. He and L. H. Tubbs gave addresses of welcome for the pastor at the local church. Mrs. J. J. Laird of Black Creek, gave the address of welcome for the Black Creek members and E. L. McBain spoke for the Boy Scouts and Mrs. C. H. Benedict in behalf of the Ladies Aid society. Mrs. James Sherman gave a humorous reacting entitled "A Party at the Parsonage."

A poem written for the occasion by Charles Benedict was read by Mrs. Benedict. Music for the occasion was furnished by the Helen's band. A cafeteria supper was served.

By his seven years of service here Mr. Knutzen has already broken the record for length of pastoral service in both Seymour and Black Creek churches. The previous record was held by the Rev. Allen Adams, who served the congregations for six years and four months.

Mrs. Herman Husman entertained at three tables of bridge on Monday evening for Miss Gladys Jensen of Superior. Miss Jensen was a former high school teacher here. Honors in bridge were won by Miss Hazel Jansen and Miss Enid Walsh. Guest prize by Miss Gladys Jensen, Mrs. Edward Brownson of Neenah was an out of town guest.

Mr. Fred Hartwig was a guest of her daughter at Milwaukee over the weekend.

PREPARE FOR DUCK SEASON AT FREMONT

Hotels and Resorts Receive Reservations from State Nimrods

Special to Post-Crescent

Fremont—Duck hunting in waters about Fremont will start Oct. 1, instead of Sept. 16, this year and lasts only a month. Wild ducks are returning daily from the south to the rice beds of Partridge lake and marshes and bayous along the Wolf river. Local hotels and resorts are preparing for the annual influx of hunters who come from all parts of the state. Accommodations are being repaired and boats and cliffs are being repaired and repainted.

When the automobile he was driving left the road and turned over into a ditch near Pine River last Saturday night, Arthur Pagel, 35, West Bloomfield farmer living four miles south of Fremont, suffered bruises and lacerations and possible internal injuries. Pagel was accompanied by his wife, who was uninjured.

Three tables of five hundred were played at the Women's Improvement club meeting at the home of Mrs. R. W. Sommers Tuesday evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. Lark Lovejoy, Mrs. Alpheus Steiger and Mrs. Guy Kinsman. Mrs. Alpheus Steiger will entertain the club in two weeks.

Albert Averill, Arlin Pitt, George H. Dobbins and Arnold Sader, attended a banquet of the Lions club at Weyauwega Monday evening.

Mrs. Gertrude Mueller and children George and Cleopatra, Mrs. J. Brantmeier, Miss Rose Glaz and Ivy Holzschuh, spent Sunday at Holy Hill and reported the worst storm they have ever seen. While they were attending the services out of doors a tree fell and knocked a Capuchin priest and an altar boy unconscious. Many persons fainted or were hurt before they could reach shelter. Trees and telephone and electric light poles fell all around them. The storm lasted only a short time.

Reds Beat Giants And Win National League Flag For St. Louis

CARDS ARE IDLE BUT THEY COP SECOND TITLE

George Earnshaw Pitches Macks to 100th Victory of Current Season

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Staff Writer
THE St. Louis Cardinals were in possession of their second straight National League pennant today, having clinched the flag early yesterday afternoon without the necessity of firing a shot. Their only remaining goal before they tackle the Philadelphia Athletics in the world series Oct. 1 is to be the first National League club since 1913 to win more than 100 games.

They have bright prospects of bettering the mark of 101 victories set by the New York Giants eight years ago. Yesterday's 6 to 3 triumph over Philadelphia was No. 96, and they have nine more games to play before the curtain falls. They are likely to go on winning their share, as manager Gabby Street announced last night he intended to use his best pitchers in their regular turn right up to the last day.

Thanks to the Cincinnati Reds, who it appears, had a mission after all, the Cards did not even have to win yesterday to sew up their fourth title in six years. The Reds attended to that nicely when they trimmed the New York Giants, 7 to 3, in the first game of a doubleheader. The Cardinals were in the nighter. They merely added insult to injury. The first loss made it impossible for the McGrawmen to finish closer than a half-game to the top.

Red Lucas, sometimes referred to as Cincinnati's pitching staff, had the privilege of sinking the Giants and clinching the pennant for his thirteenth triumph of the year for a last-place club. He allowed ten hits but kept them spaced, while his mates fell on Carl Hubbell with gusto. The second title was not decided until the eighth inning, when successive hits by Hendrick, Ford and Sukeforth broke a 2-2 tie and provided the winning run.

Bill Hallahan, who is expected to start the second game of the world series, pitched the cards to their unneeded win over the Phils, allowing only six hits. It was their seventh straight victory and their twelfth in three days. Chick Hefey hit his sixteenth homer in his only time at bat against Phil Collins.

The Chicago Cubs took a flimsy hold on third place by beating the Boston Braves in two close ones, 6 and 5 and 8 to 7, and Brooklyn practically sewed up fourth by downing the Pittsburgh Pirates, 11 to 5. Pat Malone pitched the Cubs to their first victory over the Braves, but had a narrow escape when they rallied to score four times in the ninth inning. The Robins hopped on Brame and Osborn for six runs in the seventh inning to swamp the Pirates.

Macks Win 100
By way of celebrating their clinching the American league flag the previous day, the Athletics rang up their one hundredth victory of the year at Cleveland's expense, 7 to 5. Big George Earnshaw went the route of a pitcher, throwing a five-inning lead in the second inning, but the star right-hander settled down and held them scoreless thereafter while his mates, mostly members of the "junior varsity," rounded Wcs Ferrell for enough runs to win.

Alvin Crowder scored his eighth straight win as the Washington Senators took a 6 to 2 decision from the St. Louis Browns. The victory put the Senators a game and a half ahead of the New York Yankees in their close race for second place. The Yanks were not scheduled.

By winning their third straight game, the Chicago Red Sox bounced out of the American league cellar and left it to the White Sox. Ed Durham bested Vic Frasier in a great mound duel, 2 to 1. Durham allowed three hits and Frasier but four. Two of the blows off Frasier, however, were doubles by Earl Webb, his 62nd and 63rd of the season.

ARMOUR AND SCHUTE BATTLE AT P. G. A.

Gene Sarazen Draws H. Smith, Billy Burke Meets Abe Espinosa

Providence, R. I. (AP)—The favorites in the Professional Golfers' association championship play, Tommy Armour, defending titlist, and Gene Sarazen, today were at the crucial stage.

Armour was matched against Denny Shute of Hudson, Ohio, for the third round. Sarazen drew Horton Smith, who has high hopes of regaining prestige.

Yesterday Armour beat Walter Murray, Valparaiso, Ind., 5 and 3; Sarazen beat Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y., 7 and 6; Shute beat Jim Foulis, Chicago, 2 and 1; Smith beat Willie MacFarlane, 6 and 5.

Chaff'n Chatter

By Gordon R. McIntyre

Can Notre Dame sweep through another football season undefeated? If odds of 10 to one against should be offered by big-hearted bookies, your correspondent would like to have about 35 cents worth of the short end.

The New Ball
Uncle Robbie says the new National League ball has helped pitchers who have a good fast ball, but has been of no aid at all to curve ball and half-speed heavies. That wasn't the way the darned thing was expected to work.

Rainy Day Hero
Jack Wilson now becomes a member of that exclusive little baseball auxiliary known as the Rainy Day Baseball Association Heroes of the World. Which is to say that when there is no game to write about, members of the association in good standing can while away an hour or so trading Hack to the Reds, Braves or Robbies, depending upon the mood. Look at the yarns that Mr. McGraw's craving for a Cincinnati pitcher named Red Lucas gave the boys. Lucas by the way, is president of the Rainy Day Heroes Auxiliary.

The Philly Marvel
If you think Lefty Grove's string of 16 victories is something to write home about, consider Phil Collins. Pitching in the uniform of the Phillies, Mr. Collins won eight games in a row. That's pitching.

Discrepancy
This is Amos Alonzo Stagg's 40th year of coaching at the University of Chicago. There must be a mistake in the figures somewhere. Stagg has coached the Maroon squad 50 years since 1923.

Old Guard Dying
This year's meeting between the Giants and Yankees at least demonstrated that baseball's mortality rate is pretty high. Only three of the men who appeared in the 1923 world series between the two clubs remain now. They are Ruth, Fennock and Travis Jackson.

Careers
There are few careers in baseball that can match that of Francis Outmet on the fairways in point of service and stamina. Babe Ruth, who hit the Red Sox as a pitcher in 1914, a year after Outmet had won his first National Open. Maranville reached the Braves in 1912. Herb Fennock joined the A's in 1912. Jack Quinn was with the Yankees in 1908, '10 and '11 and then drifted back to the minors. Eppa Rixey, whose big league career began in 1912, is still pitching.

New Face in Series
The world series likely will see a new face at shortstop. If Joe Boley's legs continue to bother him and Dibs Williams doesn't go into a tail-spin, Dibs probably will be leaping around at short during one or two games of the series. But Boley probably will start. He knows his grounders.

Business Golf
George Von Elm took down $23,000 in prizes in 11 months last fall, winter and spring without winning a tournament. Recently, after losing the National Open playoff to Bill Burke, he played 23 exhibition matches with Burke at $500 per match. Who said depression?

All-America Battle
The benefit match Sept. 23, with George Von Elm and Bill Burke playing against Bobby Jones and Francis Outmet brings up another suggestion. How about an All-America benefit, 72 holes of medal play between Bobby Jones, champion emeritus; Francis Outmet, amateur champion; Bill Burke, open champion; and Tommy Armour, winner of the British open?

An Opinion
Tony Canzoneri, winner of the featherweight, lightweight and junior-lightweight championships, will go down in the books as one of the greatest fighting men of all time. He won't be 25 years old until Nov. 6, and will be around for a long time.

Orange Eleven Is Beaten At Neenah
High School Routed in Second Scrimmage Session Wednesday

Appleton high school football team was given a ride over to Neenah yesterday afternoon by Coach Joseph Shields and the boys liked it so well they took a trimming from Neenah high gliders. The score was reported to be 18 and 3 or some thing like that, at any rate a count that added mighty little prestige to the Orange.

And all within a few days of the opening game of the season Appleton vs. Stevens Point here Saturday afternoon.

Just what happened to make the Orange take another trimming is a question. Coach Shields was so gloomy over the results he kept out of sight Wednesday evening and then rushed to Fond du Lac Thursday in hopes the cry and hue would pass over before he returned. Valley coaches at meeting at Fondy today planning for the 1931-32 sports campaigns.

Nary a word has been heard about the Stevens Point aggregation except that Eddie Kotal, formerly of Appleton, has been coaching them. In the absence of Harry Ringdahl, however, Eddie has started work with his Stevens Point Teachers and may not be drilling the youngsters.

Incidentally Ringdahl is a former Ripon glider of the days of Justin and Schneider. "Ring" played half in those days and still takes the blame for Lawrence winning a thrilling 10 and 6 game here in 1921 when Basing pulled the game out of the fire by smashing his way down the field on line plunges for a touchdown.

KIMBERLY, KAUKAUNA GRID TEAMS SCRIMMAGE
Kimberly—The practice game between the Red Devils gliders of Kimberly high school and the Orange gliders of Kaukauna turned out to be just a good practice game with the backfield men of both teams showing rare form. The heavy Kaukauna team had the advantage but the plucky Kimberly gliders scrimmaged 25 minutes before the Orange scored. The first point was made on a safety when the Orange blocked a Kimberly punt behind the line.

Coach Harpers squad showed very well considering the competition and Van Susteren and Le May, backfield men, did most of the ball carrying. Kimberly will open its season Saturday when it plays host to the strong Pulaski aggregation. Coach Harpers expects to win this game and as yesterday's practice did not injure any of his players he should have a good chance.

Wood English and Vince Barton, Cubs—Former made four straight hits in first game, latter four out of five in second as Cubs took two from Braves.

Al Crowder, Senators—Pitched his eighth straight victory over Browns.
Johnny Frederick, Robins—Hit double and two singles to lead 16 hit attack that beat Pirates 11-5.
Eddie Durham and Earl Webb, Red Sox—Former held White Sox to three hits; latter clouted sixty-second and sixty-third doubles of season in 2-1 victory.

HIGH SCHOOL GRID TEAMS INVITED TO BAY PACKER GAMES

Reduced Rates in Effect for All Except Bear, Giant Tits

Green Bay—Football squads from Wisconsin and Upper Michigan high schools will be "pay guests" of the Green Bay Football corporation at a number of the Packer games this fall.
At a meeting of the Football corporation's executive committee, it was decided to invite the scholastic gliders to attend the Packer contests on a cut-rate basis.

The offer sent out to some 40 schools provides for 50 cents admission per player. Each squad is limited to 80 members and the Packer management will seat the high school footballers in the $2.50 reserved sections of the stadium. Prices will prevail at all games except the Chicago Bears on Sept. 27 and the New York Giants, Oct. 4. It is expected that several groups will attend the game here Sunday with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Joannes Issues Statement
In speaking of the high school offer President J. H. Joannes of the Football corporation said: "We aim to make it possible for the high school teams to see the Packers in action. The Packer management feels that the reduced rate for the boys is a step in the right direction and if successful, we intend to repeat it in following years."

Among the schools invited are: Berlin, Beaver Dam, Waupun, Oconto, Sturgeon Bay, Kewaunee, Algoma, East and West De Pere, Kaukauna, Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Shawano, Antigo, Wausau, Merrill, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Sheboygan, Manitowish, Two Rivers, Lena, Oconto Falls, New London, East and West Green Bay, Wisconsin Rapids, Kimberly, Marinette, Seymour, Black Creek, Clintonville, Nekeosa, Peshtigo.

Included in the upper Michigan list are: Menominee, Escanaba, Iron Mountain, Ironwood, Sault Ste. Marie, Ishpeming, Houghton and Hancock.

BREWS BEGIN FINAL DRIVE FOR 2ND PLACE

Milwaukee Club Opens Four Game Series With Kansas City

Chicago (AP)—Milwaukee began its final drive for second place in the American Association today, opening a four-game series at Kansas City, while Indianapolis, in third place, was hopeful of snatching the runner-up position in a set at Louisville.

Kansas City was one full game ahead of the Indians, while Milwaukee trailed the Blues by three and one half games. The throat-cutting between the Blues and Brewers made Indianapolis' chances look good, for Louisville has shipped steadily recently and today was in seventh place.

Toledo was at Columbus and the final of the intercity series between Minneapolis and the champion St. Paul club, also were on the bill. No games were scheduled yesterday.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—
BEN CHAPMAN could run pretty fast before he ever came to the Yankees, but he has been taught a lot of the fine points of springing by Earl "Doc" Painter, Yankee trainer.

Painter coached and captained Colorado College to a couple of track titles in the Rocky Mountain Conference in 1904-05-06. Doc ran the 100 in 10 flat. . . . and could do 220 in 22.2. . . . Doc has taken special care of Ben's legs. . . . and taught him little tricks of cutting the wind that made the Birmingham Bunny faster.

HOPPE COCHRANE IN BILLIARD TOURNEY

Chicago (AP)—Willie Hoppe, former ballline billiards champion, today held a lead of two blocks to one over Walker Cochrane at three cushions, but Walker held the same margin at 13.2 ballline.

Hoppe won last night's three cushion match, 25 to 21, but Cochrane came back to win at 13.2, 200 to 188. Hoppe won at both styles Tuesday, and Cochrane evened up by winning both matches Tuesday night. The series ends Saturday night.

Cleveland Eleven Trains At Waupaca Chain O' Lakes

WAUPACA—The Cleveland Indians, owner Jerry Corcoran's entry in the National Professional Football league, believe in mixing work—hard work—with a bit of pleasure. They relax as they prepare for their battle with the Chicago Bears at the Windy City in a starlight game, Friday evening. Following a 26 to 0 defeat at the hands of the Green Bay Packers last Sunday members of the Cleveland team, 23 strong, came to Waupaca and have been staying at the Chain O'Lakes, noted central Wisconsin resort.

Most of the resorters have returned home following the summer season and the gliders have the one hotel all to themselves. Corcoran has chartered a Greyhound bus for the exclusive use of the club. They travel to Waupaca five miles away for their meals, have a two hour workout every morning and a similar one in the afternoon, and the rest of the time there's swimming and fishing. Tuesday was pay day and the boys celebrated by engaging in a two-bit limit game of stud in the evening. They're living the life of Riley, in bed before twelve, up at seven, and the most exciting amusement outside of the poker games is a movie.

Veteran Magnate
Jerry Corcoran, veteran pro league magnate, who bought the Cleveland franchise this year, has been connected with the professional side of the grid sport for 18 years. He owned the Brooklyn club for the past two seasons, and before that he was interested in half-a-dozen pro and semi-pro organizations. "It's the greatest game in the world," he insists, "and it's getting bigger every year. Just think. We had 34,000 spectators at our first game in Cleveland's new stadium this year. That's a crowd."

Corcoran was particularly enthusiastic about the work of the Packers in Sunday's game. "They've got a better team over there than they had last year," he remarked, "but I think the team that will win the championship is the Chicago Bears. You remember how they trounced the Packers and the Giants during the latter part of last season? When you get players like Nagurski, Savolli, and Grange in the same backfield I don't believe any football team on earth is going to stop them, not even the Packers. Green Bay ought to win all of its home games, though. I look for them to lose two or three when they hit the road."

The Cleveland manager was especially impressed with the work of Saunders, the sensational newcomer from Southern California who worked in the Packer backfield last Sunday. "He sure is a wonder," was his statement, "I liked his playing much better than I did that of Baker at end. Baker is a bear at going up after passes and he's a sweet boy on offense, but my men didn't have much trouble handling him, when we were in possession of the ball. We took him out of lots of plays and I'll wager a lot of teams will gain considerable ground over him if the Packers use him all season. Sure, Dunn, Dilweg, Michalske, and most of the other vets looked about as good as ever. They'll always be able to pla. football because they've got brains and know how to use them."

"Pretty Good Gang"
"I've got a pretty good gang of boys myself," Corcoran continued, "and they'll be plenty tough to beat by the middle of the season. I haven't got a lot of well known stars but everyone of them is a football player. The team didn't expect to get trimmed so badly at Green Bay and I think they'll give a lot better account of themselves against the

Hanley

Orders 'Cats Be Vaccinated'

Evanson, Ill. (AP)—There will be numerous sore arms on the Northwestern football squad for the next few days, and Hank Bruder—not throwing footballs—is to blame.

Early last season, Bruder, the hardest luck player in the Big Ten during his three years of competition, became ill with smallpox, and consequent vaccinations scrambled practice plans.

Coach Dick Hanley today ordered that every man on the squad be vaccinated, rather than take a chance on someone else upsetting his training plans.

ENDS AND QUARTER BIG PROBLEMS FOR U. OF W. COACHES

Tackles Also Needed; Practice Twice Daily Until School Opens

MADISON—After looking over the 59 candidates who reported for the first day's drills, Head Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite of the University of Wisconsin football team saw no reason, apparently, for making any changes in the estimates he had previously placed upon his material. At any rate, in the light drills which the men went through, both morning and afternoon, all were used in the positions for which the coach had originally listed them.

Current opinion here is that three main problems confront the Badger coaching staff this fall. The first—perhaps the most difficult—is that of developing capable ends. Both of last year's regulars, Captain Gantenbein and George Casey, have been lost by graduation. Then Howie Jensen, ablest reserve wingman, during the summer suffered a broken knee cap in an automobile accident which ended his playing days. Last year's Fresh squad produced but two ends of any promise—Richard Haworth and Otto Houdek. Houdek will not return this fall.

Need Signal Caller

The second big "if" of the 1931 season relates to the signal calling job. Ernie Lusby and Sammy Behr, veterans who divided this assignment last fall, have both been lost by graduation. Leading candidates for this difficult post are Walter McGuire, a Junior who saw some action last fall, and Bobbie Schiller, Leo Foret and Sheldon Beise, all Sophomores. McGuire reported in poor condition, due to a recent illness. Beise has a scholastic hurdle to pass before he will be eligible.

Third on the list of perplexing problems is that of reserve line material, particularly tackles. Captain Hal Smith will take care of the right tackle job capably, with Bratton, a reserve last fall competing for the place. Strongest candidates for the left tackle berth seem to be Ward Stout, a reserve, and Don Cuthbert, a husky Sophomore. Other tackle possibilities are George Eddelback and Frank Molinaro, reserves, and Frank Buccel and Stan Gebarski, Sophomores. Gebarski has not reported yet.

The squad will practice twice daily, at ten and four o'clock, for the remainder of the week. After college

Wolves, Purdue, Wildcats Strongest Teams In Big 10

FRANCIS J. POWERS Copyright 1931 CHICAGO —(CPA) — Michigan, Purdue and Northwestern were the outstanding favorites for the 1931 championship when Big Ten coaches sent their squads through a double drill on the opening of the practice season today. Since none of the three met during the coming campaign there is a possibility of the Big Ten race ending in a triple tie. But that probability is not great, for the conference looks forward to one of its best seasons in many years — a season in which the heads of the favorites may be tumbled over any weekend.

Michigan and Purdue will start their campaigns with many veterans in the lineup. In fact Purdue can and likely will inaugurate the season with a lineup composed entirely of seniors and juniors. Northwestern also has its share of veterans, but Dick Hanley must bolster the superstructure of the Purple team in several important positions, and, furthermore, he has lost several players who were specialists in the art of pass catching and kicking. The Purple again will have tremendous power, but it will not be the team that romped unbeaten through the 1930 Big Ten chase and then held Notre Dame scoreless for 52 minutes.

Chicago, Indiana Better Both Chicago and Indiana will be improved over several of their recent seasons, but with the conference as a whole much stronger than last year it is problematical just now how much headway the Maroons and Hoosiers can show. Both Amos Stagg and Earl Hayes, Indiana's new coach, are banking on sophomore material and there is a new amount of optimism around the Hoosier cidel in Bloomington.

Iowa returns to the conference campaign this fall after a year of penance and the Hawkeyes are the puzzle of the Big Ten. Burt Ingersen will present a lineup that is entirely new to conference followers, and little accurate knowledge is to be had of Iowa's prospects at this time. The Hawks, as usual, will be big and powerful, and, for a confirmed pessimist, Ingersen seemed unduly cheerful when Big Ten coaches were discussing the rules here Saturday.

Conference teams preserve a comity with other parts of the country through numerous intersectional games. Minnesota plays Stanford and Michigan and Chicago meets Princeton and Yale respectively. Ohio meets Navy and Vanderbilt and Purdue plays Carnegie Tech. If the conference teams are good they will prove their abilities through the tentacles of intersectional games.

Badgers Considered

Behind the three favorites are grouped Wisconsin, Ohio State and Minnesota. All of those teams will be much stronger than last year but at the same time are a bit shy of championship calibre. That does not mean they are to be taken lightly, and any one of them may ruin the season for some leader.

Ohio State has the roughest schedule of any conference team, meeting Northwestern and Michigan, in addition to Illinois and Wisconsin. Great man power is to be found on the Gopher, Badger and Buckeye squads, but it will take some time to develop the potential strength and none of the three is likely to find its smoothest stride until late in the season.

Illinois, that was far down in 1930, will show tremendous improvement and Bob Zuppke may cause several upsets during the season. Zuppke has big men on his squad once more, and it is power that Wiley Masters likes best when he is sculpturing a great team. Zup will use many sophomores and not be at his best before the latter part of October. But watch him then.

Neenah and Appleton are well represented on the University of Wisconsin football squad this fall with several youngsters from each city making a bid for varsity berths. Among the ends there is Mark Catlin, Appleton and Gordon Ehlers, Neenah; guards, Harvey Kranhold, Appleton, centers, Al Liethan, Appleton; and backs, John Schneller of Neenah.

Schneller was the star with the Badgers last season and with a few faults corrected during the winter months, Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite has hopes the big Neenah youth will be an outstanding performer.

opens Tuesday, there will be the usual daily drill at four. Practice is open this week.

WILL START STATE TITLE SERIES SUNDAY

Kaukauna Fans Again Planning Invasion of Sheboygan Ball Park

Kaukauna and Sheboygan baseball teams again will try Sunday to play the first game of the three game series to decide the state baseball championship. The game, as scheduled last Sunday, will be played at Sheboygan.

With what appeared to be a record throng of Sheboygan and Kaukauna fans on hand last Sunday, the first game was called off when the heavens opened up and deluged the country around Sheboygan with a lot of much needed rain. After watching the skies drip for an hour the game was called off by league officials.

Weather conditions for the last few days have been hard on the Kaws and they haven't gotten in much practice. Perhaps the situation is the same at Sheboygan, at any rate Kaws fans are hoping so.

On paper it seems that the Valley league team has the edge over the Chaires. The Kaws represent the hardest hitting aggregation ever to represent the Valley and the ability with the war club is not lessened by any lack of ability on the field.

Sheboygan and the state league claim they play faster ball. Sunday's game will tell. Despite the disappointment last week another large delegation of Kaukauna fans is preparing to invade the lake shore city. And there's no one more rabid than a Kaukauna baseball fan.

The Sewanee football team will play eight games in a row away from home this season.

Calling the Strikes

New York —(CPA)— Splendid baseball year for Newark, Baltimore and Rochester, but wracking the nerves of the fans in those three cities as the three contenders fight for the lead. Hilarity and gloom swap places overnight. Yet there is compensation, because the Gloomy Gus of one day becomes the Laughing Larry of the next.

The International league race apparently will go on this way to the finish and nerves will be scattered all over New Jersey, New York and Maryland. Incidentally, signing Al Mamaux of the Newark team is showing qualities as a leader that have surprised all his neighbors in two states.

New York —(P)— Jackie Fields of Los Angeles, former world's welterweight champion who has not fought since he broke his hand and who has not appeared in New York for over two years, comes back to the ring tonight to prove or disprove the ability of Young Terry, promising middleweight from Trenton, N. 18 PLAYERS ENTERED IN "Y" NET TOURNNEY

Eight Doubles Teams Also Are Listed; Will Play Saturday

Eighteen singles players and eight doubles teams have entered the tennis tournament to be held at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday. The tourney is open to anyone in the city. There will be no entry fee and no prizes, the meet being arranged for the sport of the thing and to give tennis enthusiasts a little extra competition.

Among the men entered in singles are Frances Hauch, Norman Clapp, Theodore Cloak, Wilmer Krueger, Dr. R. V. Landis, George LaBorde, E. J. Davis, George Stewart, Art Remley, Sidney Cotton, George Tomlinson, Bob Shannon, Judson Rosebush, Carl Cast, John Scheibler, Howard Reitz, Robert DeLong.

The doubles teams are Landis and LaBorde, Clapp and Cloak, Krueger and Leo Murphy, Davis and John Catlin, Cotton and Tomlinson, Shannon and Hauch, Remley and Rosebush and Cast and DeLong.

been devoted to "new talent" shows all summer.

Fields, despite his long period of inaction, is an 8 to 5 favorite, but Terry has found the fancy of many fans in his recent victories. The Trenton boy, weighing 155, probably will have a three or four pound pull in the weights.

Two other ten rounders between middleweights are on the program. One brings together Paulie Walker, another Trenton fighter, and Vincent Hambright of Cincinnati. In the other, My Sullivan of St. Paul, faces Solly Krieger of New York.

Many Diseases Of Heart Found To Be Preventable

Madison— Diseases of the heart are preventable in the majority of instances except in congenital cases and in extreme old age, yet it has become one of the most menacing causes of death in all countries, and the rate is rapidly raising in Wisconsin. In twenty years the Wisconsin rate has nearly doubled.

The State Medical Society attributes this increase to larger number of people reaching old age limits, to the over-stimulated activity of the age, and to diseases unattended to during youth. The death score for Wisconsin from heart disease for the past six years is as follows:

1926	4740
1927	5167
1928	5736
1929	6200
1930	6081

The Wisconsin State Medical Society in a bulletin issued today declares that few people have unhealthy hearts in the beginning and that most heart diseases have been caused by rheumatism, tonsillitis, St. Vitus' dance, decayed teeth and some of the infectious diseases, especially scarlet fever.

"When the infecting agent is carried, it plants itself on the curtains of the valves, on the structures about the valves and in the heart muscle," declares the bulletin. "It causes an inflammation, and when the inflammation has subsided, it leaves in its wake scarred and distorted tissues that interfere with the proper working of the delicate mechanism of the valves."

"The time to remove diseased tonsils is before they have an opportunity of infecting the heart. Only complete removal will be satisfactory, since a few remaining crypts may contain enough infective bacteria to menace the heart. All tonsils need not be removed, but only those which most physicians, and many of the laity of today, clearly recognize as diseased and potentially dangerous. Diseased tonsils are a great source of danger to the heart, and when they are removed the danger often goes with them and the general health is improved.

"The teeth should be carefully inspected at intervals of six months, and any doubtful ones should be x-rayed by an expert. Good teeth help toward perfect digestion, and this in turn aids the general health and raises the bodily resistance to disease. All other areas of local infection should be sought out by the physician and removed. Cleanse mouths, greater protection against the so-called infectious diseases of childhood, such as scarlet fever and diphtheria, will reduce the number of cases of heart disease."

Hearing as a rule is more acute with the right ear than with the left.

"What's BACK of this Miller Guarantee, anyway?"

"a thicker, deeper tread, for one thing"

NOT only is the Miller guarantee fully backed up by the Miller Rubber Products Company! It has plenty of support and backing right in the tire itself.

Just take a look at this tread! Feel it. Dig your fingers down into it. It's thicker and its deeper for one thing. And does it wear? But... when you've got more rubber built in where the most wear comes, it's only natural that you get more mileage.

Come in, let us show you this tire, measure the depth of its non-slipping traction tread. You'll like it.

SAM

BY FREEMAN LINCOLN

Chapter 13

PEAK AND FREDDY CLASH

"It's nothing," Sam shook his head. "I'm sorry, Peak. It's just that I'm so terribly tired."

"Look here," said Peak decisively. "I'll tell you what's going to happen. I'm going home, and you are going to bed."

He hesitated, and then reached into his side pocket and produced a small square box. "Here's your engagement ring," he said. He took the ring from its case and picked up her left hand. "It may be a little large," he apologized, "but I think it's rather pretty."

"It's beautiful," Sam looked at the ring on her third finger, and then up at Peak.

He kissed her lightly. "Just for luck, Sam. I'm sure we'll have luck."

"Of course, Peak." She nodded slowly. "Of course we will."

In the ten days that followed no word was heard from Nelson Aldersea and his bride. No letter came to the stable, and after the first sensation the newspapers forgot the story entirely. Fourth and Sam never mentioned the subject in public, and their friends tactfully avoided it.

Sam, as everyone could see and as everyone remarked, had suffered more keenly from this blunder of Nelson's than even Fourth himself. She held her head just as high, if not a bit higher than before, but no one was deceived. Not even her devoted attention to Peak Abbott, and his equally obvious devotion to her, seemed enough to make her forget what her step-brother had done.

Her friends did their best to aid in the forgetting process. The engagement offered sufficient excuse for a round of entertainments that left her no night in the week to her own devices. Her days were busy enough with her housekeeping and her job on the Express. People wondered, audibly, why she kept on with her job.

Peak wondered the same thing. After the engagement was announced he said that, naturally, she would want to give up her job at once. Sam's protest was earnest; almost vehement.

"It is necessary, Peak," she pleaded.

"Of course it isn't necessary," Peak laughed in surprise. "I just thought that maybe you'd be too busy to go on with it now."

"Busy?" Oh, no! Sam shook her head. "I'm not half busy enough." Peak worried about that remark, and as the days went by he found himself worrying more and more about Sam. She was not herself. He could tell how tired she was, and yet she rushed from one thing to another as though she was afraid of sitting still. She worked hard, played harder, and treated him with unwavering gentleness and consideration. Her days were almost pathetic.

In the end Peak was forced to mention the matter to her. He chose a time when they were alone in the living room of the stable, and he tried to bring up the subject with some appearance of naturalness, but Sam persistently parried his tactful hints. He found it necessary, finally, to be direct.

"Sam," he said suddenly. "I'm worried about something, and I wish you'd help me."

"Worried?" Her eyes questioned him. "About what?"

"I'm worried about you. There's something the matter with you, Sam, and I wish you'd tell me what it is."

"Don't be silly, Peak." She looked away. "There's nothing the matter with me."

He shrugged. "Everybody knows you are unhappy about something, and everybody is talking about it. I know it, too, naturally enough, but I don't agree with the others as to the cause. I don't agree with the general opinion that it is Nelson who is bothering you, and I don't agree with Fourth that it is money."

"Money?" The color deepened in her cheeks. "Did Fourth say anything to you about money?"

"It wasn't his fault. I dragged it out of him. I questioned him until I forced him to admit that he thought you were troubled about money. He told me about what Nelson had done, and about that foolish mortgage."

She shrugged, almost indifferently. "So it was you who paid the mortgage interest. Fourth said he had earned it, but I might have known."

"What does it matter? Let's get back to the original subject. I can't believe that it is money that is making you unhappy because you must realize that your money troubles will be over as soon as you marry me. I can't believe it is Nelson, either."

"No?" She almost smiled. "Then what do you think it is?"

"I don't know," He frowned. "I'm only afraid you are unhappy because you've said you'll marry me. If that is true, Sam, I hope you'll admit it, and we'll consider the whole business off."

She looked at him. "Are you trying to get rid of me?"

"You know I'm not."

She nodded calmly. "Very well then, the subject is closed. For I have no intention of breaking my engagement to you—ever. If there's any breaking to be done, Peak, you'll have to do it. Do you want to?"

"I don't want anything except to see you happy." "I suppose there is no use in telling you that I'm perfectly happy?"

"Not the slightest." He shook his head doggedly. "I know that there's something wrong with you, even though you won't admit it, and I'll tell you what I'm going to do." She shook a finger at her, sternly. "Somehow or other I'm going to find out what the matter is, and when I do, I'm going to get it fixed."

Two weeks later Freddy Munson walked into Peak Abbott's office in the Express building.

"Hello, Munson," said Peak with a smile, holding out his hand. "I'm glad to see you. Are you coming back to work for us? We can use a good man."

"Hello, Abbott," Freddy shook hands briefly. "No, I'm not coming back here to work. I'm on my way to Kansas City, and I just stopped off for an hour to say something to you."

"Oh?" Peak made a mental note that Freddy looked tired and shabby. Probably he had been on an intensive spree in New York. Probably he wanted to borrow money. Peak indicated a chair. "Won't you sit down?"

"No, thanks. I'll stand if you don't mind." Freddy shook his head and then added in explanation: "Can't seem to sit down for any length of time these days. Nervous. Smoking too many cigarettes probably."

He took a paper package from his pocket as he spoke, extracted a cigarette, and lit it. Peak smiled. "I know I get that way myself sometimes. Well, what's on your mind, Munson?"

Freddy smiled. Then he said abruptly: "How is Sam?"

"Sam Sherrill?" Surprised, Peak hesitated. "Why, she's fine—thanks."

Freddy's scowl disappeared and he smiled grimly. "Didn't know I knew her well enough to call her Sam, did you? Well, I do."

He thrust his hands in his pockets and began to pace up and down the rug, rapidly puffing at his cigarette. Peak watched him for a time and then said quietly, "Well?"

Freddy laughed sharply and stopped in his tracks. "I'm a fool!" he said savagely. "I've always known I was a fool, Abbott, and this proves it. Coming here won't do any good. I'm going to get out."

Peak shrugged. "You've married me, haven't you? I admit, but if you want to get out without satisfying it, I'm afraid I can't stop you."

"I'm damned if I will!" Freddy turned about. "I'm here now, and I'm going to speak my piece."

"Good. Let's hear it."

Freddy said: "Are you going to marry Sam Sherrill?"

Peak stared. "I am Why?"

"Because," replied Freddy walking over to the desk and leaning across it, "if you do, Abbott, you'll be committing a crime—the worst sort of crime."

GRAIN MEN RAP BOARD AFTER IT REJECTS PLAN

Charge U. S. Body Waits for Perfect Solution While Farmer Perishes

Washington —(AP)—The "town hall" of President Hoover's Rapidan camp will lose its hitherto informal air for two days next week, and will be run to the rat-a-tat of a girl scout executive's gavel.

For Mrs. Herbert Hoover, honorary president and long-time patroness of that organization, has invited the 23 members of its executive committee, and 23 others belonging to its board of directors, to come to the Virginia retreat for the regular monthly meeting.

Before her husband became president, Mrs. Hoover seldom missed a girl scout executive meeting, and when the group scheduled a gathering here for the first time since 1929, Mrs. Hoover hospitably asked them to the mountain camp.

Except that the locale changed to be the summer retreat of the chief executive, the meeting will not be an innovation. Indeed, the girl scout executives, outdoor women all, have often camped together.

Twenty-five women have already accepted the invitation. The one who will be farthest from home, of those thus far signifying their intention to attend, is Miss Elizabeth E. Alley of Santa Barbara, Calif.

The guests are scheduled to arrive at the White House Tuesday and go immediately to camp. Meetings will be held Wednesday and Thursday.

For off-duty hours, Camp Rapidan will offer them entertainment exactly fitted to the taste of women whose delight it is to interest growing girls in mountains, trees, birds, and flowers.

Horseback riding is offered. Those who prefer more strenuous exercise can climb Fork mountain, 3,500 feet high, and gaze upon views and vistas from a ranger's tower.

School started this week in the Hoover built mountain schoolhouse a few miles from the camp, and the twenty-six pupils of Miss Christine Best are said to be expecting the girl scout executives to call.

Children of all ages are being educated together at this school. Every body had to start at scratch because no school was in that vicinity before the president established his camp.

Down to the marine camp and up the mountain, by horseback or automobile over a mountain road the girl scout executives will go to visit the Blue Ridge school.

Mrs. Frederick Edey is president of the executive group, and Mrs. Nicholas F. Brady is chairman of the board of directors. Because they are so widely scattered over the country, the directors seldom can attend the monthly meeting, but many are making a special effort to come to Camp Rapidan. Some will remain in the east for the annual girl scout convention to be held in Buffalo in October.

PUPILS URGED TO CAN FOOD FOR UNEMPLOYED

Washington —(AP)—Children of America are to be urged to help can and save food for the unemployed.

James L. Fieser, acting chairman of the Red Cross, today announced the plan, which calls for enrolling pupils in 30,000 public and private schools through Junior Red Cross groups under the direction of local chapters.

Officials estimated a million cans of foodstuffs tagged "not to be sold" would be produced.

Older pupils will play their part in the cooking, canning and drying, while youngsters collect empty jars, get cans and donations of fruits and vegetables.

Each community's production will be distributed locally through relief agencies, the surplus to be sent to other sections.

5 PERFORMANCES SCHEDULED FOR LYCEUM COURSE

Two Night Meetings and Three Day Assemblies on Program

This winter's plans for lyceum entertainment at Roosevelt Junior high school include two public school performances to be given at night in the school auditorium, and three student assemblies to be held during school hours.

The first of the public attractions is the Apollo Duo, scheduled for the evening of Dec. 4, in which Arthur Wells and Alta Wells present dialect readings, musical selections and character sketches. The second one is the play, "Fog O' My Heart," which will be given by the Bob Folland players the night of Jan. 6. Students and adults will attend these two performances.

Al Fridy, internationally known as the humorist of the big top, will relate his experiences of his life in several circuses at one of the student assemblies. The first group to appear at the assemblies is the Filipino Variety Four on October 2. Noah Belharz, master of make-up, will give character impersonations on Feb. 10.

The student lyceum course is sponsored every year at Roosevelt Junior high school and the artists are obtained through the extension division of the University of Wisconsin. In previous years the entertainment has been excluded to students alone and the programs were given only at Friday assembly periods during the year. Junior high school students sign up for the lyceum course at the beginning of the year and those who do not attend the program assemblies spend the time in study rooms.

SELL ELLINGTON LAND TO SATISFY MORTGAGE

Eight acres of land in the town of Ellington will be sold at public auction by Sheriff John Lappen at the courthouse on Sept. 23 to satisfy a mortgage foreclosure judgment. The judgment was granted by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court on Aug. 5, 1930 and the sale was ordered Aug. 6, 1931. The property is owned by Peter Starfield, et al and the mortgage is held by the estate of Claus Starfield.

SCOUT LEADERS TO ATTEND CONFERENCE AT SHEBOYGAN CAMP

Fundamentals of Organization to Be Discussed by Council Heads

The fundamental principles of scouting will be discussed at the annual conference of scout leaders at Camp Rokeby, Sheboygan council camp at Cedar Lake Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 26 and 27, according to M. G. Clark, valley scout executive. Between 25 and 30 valley council leaders from Appleton, Kaukauna, Neenah, Menasha, Clintonville and other cities having scout troops in the council, are planning to attend the conference.

Scout leaders also will be present from Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Manitowish and Sheboygan. Plans for the conference were completed at a meeting of scout executives at Sheboygan last week.

It was decided at the meeting that the entire conference would be devoted to the fundamentals of the scouting program. It is expected that close to 150 men will be in attendance. The conference will be run on the troop basis, using five troops with a scoutmaster and an assistant from each participating council.

In connection with the regular scout conference, a definite educational program will be held for Cub leaders. A. F. Claude, regional cub director will take charge of the Cub section and will give the men an idea of how to conduct the new junior scout program.

PRESS ASSOCIATION MEETS IN NEW LONDON

The Chain o'Lakes group of the Wisconsin Press association will hold its second annual meeting in New London, Friday, Sept. 25, with W. T. Comstock, publisher of the New London Press-Republican, as host. There will be a banquet at Elwood hotel following an afternoon business session.

The Chain o'Lakes group includes all nine weekly newspapers in Waupaca-co and three each in Shawano, Portage and Waushara counties. Officers of the association are: A. A. Washburn of the Clintonville Daily-Gazette, president; M. M. Keller of the Burnhamwood News, vice president; John Burnham of the Waupaca County Post, secretary and treasurer; and R. H. Wright of the Waupaca News, member of the board of directors.

Speed Ace Looking For New Fields To Conquer

Springfield, Mass.—Having zoomed to sudden fame by boring through the air at a speed of 236 miles an hour to win the star event at Cleveland's National Air Races, a slim young man, who sold his motorcycle seven years ago to pay for flying lessons is now looking for new fields to conquer and the sky is the limit.

He is Lowell Bayles, 31, winner of the $7,500 Thompson Trophy race at Cleveland who now plans to assault three more speed records. He plans a coast-to-coast dash in an attempt to break Major James H. Doolittle's record of 11 hours and 15 minutes from Los Angeles to New York.

He will attempt to shatter the American record of 267 miles an hour set by Lieutenant Al Williams, former navy ace.

And he will attempt to boost his speed to establish a new world's record for land planes, now 278 miles per hour.

Once Hit 236 M. P. H.

Flying his stubby Gee-Bee super-sportster in the Thompson Trophy race he averaged slightly more than 236 miles an hour over the 100-mile course. In a test on a mile straightaway course he reached an unofficial speed of 267 miles an hour, but once flew 286 miles an hour.

The grand proportions of these figures are almost inconsistent with Bayles, soft spoken self-made pilot that he is.

Bayles is almost a pocket edition, weighing only 120 pounds. He grew up as a coal miner in Illinois.

During the war he saw a "Jenny" biplane and decided that he would be a flier. His chance to learn did not come until the winter of 1924 when he sold his motorcycle to pay for lessons from Bob Blair, war aviator. That was at Christopher, Ill.

Just about the time he was getting ready to solo, a tornado blew Blair's ship away. Bayles' "future" collapsed. He continued working in the coal mines for six weeks and then he and another mine worker bought another war-time Jenny.

Taught Self to Solo Blair flew it back to Christopher for them. Two days later Blair was to return to continue Bayles' training. When he did not come Bayles got into the ship and took it up alone.

Bayles flew for about two months and then decided to go back to his home town, Newton, Ill., to show the natives he could fly. He took up a girl weighing 218 pounds. The motor quit and the plane crashed into an apple orchard. It was wrecked, but neither he nor his portly passenger was hurt.

Bayles salvaged the motor and a few fittings. He took them back to Christopher, and then went back into the mines to earn enough money to build a new ship.

It took every cent he had and six months of work. When it was completed it was staunch and dependable.

Plane is Bombed

Meantime a gang war was at its pitch in "bloody Herrin." An airplane had been used to bomb one of the gangs. The bombed gang discovered that there were only two airplanes in the vicinity. One was Bayles'.

One midnight Bayles' plane was blown to bits, nitro-glycerine having been placed in the cockpit.

Bayles was broke again. He learned later that the spoilers had not believed that his plane had done the bombing of their gang, but decided it was best to get both planes out of the way.

Back to the coal mines again. Soon a neighbor bought a biplane and Bayles taught him to fly. Together they barnstormed through the south.

In Florida Bayles met Roscoe Brinton, a young easterner who was fast rising in aviation. They went to Springfield, Mass., where Bayles entered aviation on a larger scale.

The next year he became a pilot of tri-motor planes.

Becomes Speed Pilot By 1930 he became acquainted with the Granville brothers, manufacturers of Gee-Bee airplanes. He entered the $25,000 All-American Circuit derby—the longest race in American aviation—6,000 miles. He rac-

COAL MEN TELL WOES TO COMMERCE CHIEF

Robert P. Lamont Has Reputation for Getting Things Done Quickly

BY SAM BLEDSOE

Washington—(P)—Soft coal operators and miners have told their troubles to a man whose habit of getting things done without any fanfare attracted Herbert Hoover's attention.

Robert P. Lamont first met the president when the latter was secretary of commerce. Lamont made a report to Mr. Hoover and forgot about the matter.

Mr. Hoover did not, however. His inquiries confirmed his first favorable impression. Lamont was also an engineer and had worked at his profession until increasing success made him an executive.

Everybody but the President, even Lamont, was surprised when the Chicago business man was offered a place in the cabinet. He accepted promptly, resigned his business connections and went to work.

He gets down promptly at 9 o'clock in the morning, and it is around 6 when he leaves.

He has the same modest quarters in the department of commerce that Mr. Hoover occupied.

Secretary Lamont can look across to the remains of the old Aqueduct bridge in the Potomac river. He did some work on that bridge as a young engineer.

Hundreds of thousands of his fellow townsmen had never heard of him until he was named secretary of commerce but he was on intimate personal terms with most of America's industrial leaders.

He found it hard to adjust himself to the public's interest in his personality. His two daughters laughed at his bewildered look as he obeyed the commands of newspaper photographers the day he took the oath.

He was surprised at the number of requests for speeches, most of which he declined.

His interests extend beyond business. His collection of etchings at his home in Lake Forest, Ill., is an indication. He still can wallop a golf ball.

He is tall, broad shouldered and looks the prosperous business man. His face is almost sharply cut.

At the department one day a messenger was having trouble removing a truck from an elevator. Several watched but only one passenger put his hand to the load.

Afterwards the messenger saw his helper. "Nice fellow," he commented. "I've seen him around here quite a bit. Who is he?"

"Secretary Lamont," replied a bystander.
